NOTHING NEW IN RULING BY JUDGE CLARK

REASONING WOULD APPLY TO ALL AMENDMENTS

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1930, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Dec. 18.—Legal technicalities that will have no practical effect upon the right to enforce the federal prohibition laws are involved in the decision by Judge William Clark in the United States district court in northern New Jersey, who held that the eighteenth amendment had not been properly passed upon by the people before being embodied in the federal constitution.

The moment an appeal is noted by the federal government, the effect of the decision is temporarily held in abeyance so that the same situation exists so far as enforcement is concerned as did before the lowest court in the federal system rendered its decision.

Two Methods.

All this does not detract from the fact that Judge Clark's decision has some interesting points. None however is exactly new, for if the line of reasoning used by Judge Clark were ever sustained it would mean that practically all the amendments to the federal constitution including the so-called slavery amendment, the woman sufferage amendment and all the others adopted since the original constitutional convention would be invalid.

What the decision does is to focus attention on the two methods whereby the federal constitution can be amended—one by action of the state legislatures and the other by constitutional conventions held in the several states. Both methods are proper and the only question at issue in the case decided by Judge Clark is whether on questions affecting personal rights the method of constitutional conventions should have been used instead of adoption by legislative bodies.

Raises Fine Point.

The language of the tenth amendment of the constitution furnishes the key to the whole situation. It reads:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

The question arises as to whether the people act through their state legislature or whether they can give up their sovereignty only through a constitutional conven-

Commission Votes Against Increase Of Radio Stations

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The radio commission today refused to permit a blanket increase in high powered stations broadcasting on cleared channels and ordered its chief examiner, Ellis A. Yost, to submit recommendations for filling present clear channel vacancies only.

It rejected a report in which Yost proposed that the applications of 20 stations for cleared channels and 50,000 watts be granted.

The action meant the commission would not accept at this time Yost's recommendation that it amend its order requiring that only four channels in each of the five zones be utilized by stations with 50,000 watts.

Prince of Wales Ill; Engagements Are All Cancelled

London, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Prince of Wales suffered from a slight chill today, necessitating canceling all his immediate engagements, but was reported to be improved tonight.

Prince of Wales

Sir Stanley Hewitt, physician to the royal family, called at York House to see the prince this evening, and a bulletin was issued saying the patient was "very much better."

Washington, Dec. 18. (AP)—Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion delivered to the state department today an invitation to the Prince of Wales to attend the Legion's next annual convention at Detroit.

The invitation will be forwarded to London by diplomatic pouch for Ambassador Dawes to communicate to the prince through the British foreign office.

HARRAND GETS FREE ON BAIL

Court to Review Case of Farmer Jailed on Liquor Charge

Lansing, Dec. 18 (AP)—The state supreme court intervened today to free a Grand Traverse county farmer who has been held in jail a month because he would not tell where he obtained liquor.

The court, on the petition of A. W. Penny, Muskegon, attorney, granted a writ of certiorari providing for a review of the proceedings by which Judge J. Millington, of Cadillac, committed Frank Harrand to jail. Pending that review, which will be submitted to the high court in January, Harrand was ordered released under $500 bail.

Penny was retained by a group of Cadillac business men who, interested themselves in the case. Harrand was arrested Nov. 6. It was alleged he was intoxicated in a dance hall near Cadillac. Judge Millington demanded to know where he procured the liquor. Harrand replied that he did not know the persons who gave it to him. As he approached the dance hall members of a group standing in the darkness offered him a bottle, he said. He took several drinks, but did not recognize those who provided the liquor, he insisted. His wife, who since his imprisonment, has been operating their farm, tending three children and looking after the livestock corroborated.

Justice Millington ordered Harrand held in jail. The court declared that Harrand knew who furnished the liquor and announced that he must stay in jail until he informed upon them.

Salesman Mails His Lunch to Relative

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A family down near New York City may just as well open that package before Christmas.

David Flanders, a Syracuse carpet salesman, took two packages to the postoffice today. One of them contained a gift for downstate relatives. The other contained his lunch.

Flanders addressed, stamped and mailed one package. He tucked the other under his arm and went to work.

This noon he opened the package—and it wasn't his lunch.

Grand Rapids Man Leaps to His Death

Grand Rapids, Dec. 18. (AP)—John Donahue, 56, of Grand Rapids, jumped to his death late tonight from the window of his room on the third floor of the Herkimer hotel here. His death was pronounced a suicide by Dr. H. C. Wolfe, coroner.

At the hotel, where Donahue lived, it was said he had been ill and, at times, delirious. He was out of work.

Milwaukee Woman Lost Life, Belief

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18. (AP)—Belief that Miss Mary Holler, Milwaukee, was the fourth person to perish when the excursion boat Eureka II burned and sank south of Miami Beach Sunday night, was expressed today by John Nolan, member of a federal board of inquiry investigating the disaster, after hearing a statement of a woman survivor who refused to give her name.

Three bodies were identified shortly after the disaster.

CONFEREES ON DROUGHT BILL REACH ACCORD

SPLIT DIFFERENCE; FIGURE SET AT $45,000,000

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—President Hoover had reason today to feel more kindly toward congress than at any time since the session opened.

The house passed the drough relief bill, fixing the figure at $30,000,000 but the conferees split the difference with the senate and raised the appropriation to $45,000,000, the half way mark toward the senate's $60,000,000.

Hoover's Power Restored

The senate did a minor surgical operation on the $116,000,000 employment relief bill but instead of taking something away it restored the president's power to apportion the money.

It also went immediately to conference and signs began to spring up that congress would like a few days off around Christmas. Adjournment Saturday is not improbable.

The senate was particularly gracious to the administration. Glenn, Republican, Illinois, rose during the day and lit into McKellar, Tennessee Democrat, for the latter's attacks on the president.

McKellar folded his hands and listened with a grave face as Glenn's voice rose but he joined heartily in the laughter when Glenn said the Tennesseean could not love little children as Mr. Hoover did. McKellar is a bachelor.

Heflin Proposal Approved

Drought and employment were the central themes but both houses and their committees found time to take up immigration, farm board appropriations and a dozen other subjects.

The house passed the Wood bill appropriation an additional $150,000,000 for farm board activities.

The senate approved the Heflin resolution calling for a report of taxes paid by the New York stock exchange and exchange members on stock transactions from 1919 to 1930.

Secretary Stimson informed a senate committee that the proposal to bar almost all immigration for a two year period would

GIRL, 19, ON TRIAL AS MYSTERY KILLER

On trial charged with the fatal shooting of a man whom, the defense contends, was not shot at all, 19-year-old Mary McClyment is pictured above as she appeared in court at Camden, N. J. Before her indictment the girl repudiated an earlier confession in which, police say, she admitted shooting Edward Nicholson, 25, during a house party. Physicians, after five post mortem examinations, announced that they could not find a bullet in Nicholson's body.

SAY SHEPARD POISONED HER

Nurse and Sergeant Tell of Mrs. Shepard's Accusations

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 18 (AP)—Two witnesses testified today in the murder trial of Major Charles A. Shepard that his wife stated before her death she had been poisoned.

The testimony of Mrs. Shepard's purported declaration included one alleged direct accusation against her husband, which the court ruled out as improper evidence.

Miss Clara Brown of Topeka, Kas., a nurse who attended Mrs. Shepard, and Sergeant J. E. Gresser, attached to the army medical laboratory at Fort Riley, Kas., provided the highlights of the government's final efforts to convict the army medical officers for the alleged poison murder of his wife at Fort Riley in June, 1929.

Evidence Ruled Out

Judge Richard J. Hopkins ordered the jury to disregard the nurse's statement when the defense objected such evidence was improper. Defense attorneys said it constituted an unsupported opinion on the part of the deceas-

"Spain's Lindy" Has Had Hectic Career

By NEA Service

Madrid, Dec. 18 —Major Ramon Franco, the black-haired Lindbergh of Spain, who broke prison a month ago in order to join a revolt against the Spanish government and who wound up by hopping a plane and sky-rocketing to safety in Portugal, has been an extremely troublesome celebrity for his native land.

It was in 1926 that Franco made himself Spain's popular idol by being the first man to fly the South Atlantic; and before the cheers provoked by that exploit had died away he had ruffled the feelings of his government in the first of a series of rows that were to grow more serious as time went on.

[illegible] Franco has been jailed, ordered about and reprimanded, at intervals, ever since. But he has never lost his hold on the sympathy of the Spanish populace—which is why his present enthusiasm for the revolt has been so discouraging to the government.

Franco, originally, was just the younger brother of a famous man. Born in the town of Ferroll 34 years ago, he found, when he entered his twenties, that his brother, Colonel Franco, commander of the Spanish Foreign Legion in Morocco, had stolen all of the glory. Ramon, however, went to Morocco, too, and as soon as his country began to develop military aviation seriously he became a pilot.

Was Hero in Africa

For several years he was something of a celebrity in the army, even though the country at large had not heard of him. His face and hands made rough and red by the desert sun and winds, he was called "Jackal," and his daring exploits with his airplane won him fame.

He used to start out on patrol in the morning with a couple of sandwiches in his pocket, and return at dusk. Time and again he did this, often being forced down behind the lines, but always escaping unhurt. He was fond of stunting; it is said that whenever the soldiers in Morocco saw

CLARK RULING TO BE STUDIED BY HIGH COURT

DECISION ON 18TH AMENDMENT IS APPEALED

Newark, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—The federal government today appealed to the United States Supreme court from Judge William Clark's decision finding the eighteenth amendment invalid.

Philip Forman, the federal district attorney who prosecuted the case of the United States vs. William Sprague and William Honey—the case in which Federal Judge Clark rendered his decision—made the appeal today. Only a few persons were in the courtroom when Forman started the procedure which will put the issue before the highest court.

Indictments Quashed

During the proceedings Judge Clark signed two orders. One, at the request of Sprague's counsel, quashed the indictment against Sprague who was charged with illegal transportation of beer. The other, at the request of the district attorney, provided for the appeal going directly to the Supreme court without the usual intermediate stop at the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Forman then attached to the papers filed with the district court clerk his preliminary assignment of points on which his appeal will be based. The papers then were forwarded to the clerk of the United States Supreme court at Washington.

Errors Listed

The paper, headed "Assignment of Errors," read:

"1—The court erred in allowing the motion of the defendant in the above case. (Motion for quashing of indictment.)

"2—The court erred in directing the indictment in the case be quashed.

"3—The court erred in ruling the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States is invalid and that the national prohibition act, enacted pursuant thereto is therefore unconstitutional and void."

Forman said the solicitor general of the United States, eager, as are the defense attorneys, to bring the case to early trial, planned to have the case moved up on the calendar from its normal position. In this manner the uncertainty pursuant upon the Clark decision would be clarified.

The opinion of Judge Clark was that the amendment should have been submitted to the people for ratification through convention and not to their legislatures.

TRIED IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP)—An effort to quash an indictment for a prohibition violation by invoking the decision of Federal Judge William T. Clark of New Jersey that ratification of the 18th amendment was invalid failed in United States district court today.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley held that Judge Clark's reasonings had already been submitted to the United States Supreme court in other cases and were not upheld.

Negro Confesses He Killed Teacher

Maryville, Mo., Dec. 18. (AP)—County Attorney Paul R. Jones announced tonight that Raymond Gunn, 30-year-old negro, had confessed he beat to death Miss Velma Colter, 19, teacher at the Garrett rural school, Tuesday night.

Jones said Gunn was convicted here in 1925 on a statutory charge and served four years in Missouri penitentiary.

The negro was wearing bloody clothing when he was arrested today. The county attorney said he at first contended that the blood stains were acquired on a hunting trip.

Ford Shuts Down To Take Inventory

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Ford Motor company suspended production in its plants here today and issued a statement explaining that the suspension was to permit the taking of the customary annual inventory.

The statement did not say how long production would be suspended. Until today the Ford factories had been operating on a three-day-week basis for the past three months.

BIG WINE RAID

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—Federal prohibition officers today seized 2,379 gallons of wine in a home on Thaddeus Avenue where, they reported, they found 54 barrels, 75 gallon jugs, a large winepress, 800 six-bottle cartons and several small bales of labels.

Prosperity is Just Around the Corner

In times of outstanding national and world prosperity, public confidence is visible on every side. Under such conditions optimism is epidemic.

In times of depression, there is the reverse order. Stocks fall with a crash, and no matter how low they may get, there is never a bottom. Commodity prices follow in turn. Curtailment in business and industry results. The public mind is oppressed with forebodings of a future no better than the present. Then for a while, pessimism is epidemic. Action followed by reaction.

The patient has undergone a critical operation. Then there is the period of convalescence. And, final recovery.

If the history of other economic depressions in the past afford any criterion, the patient is in the period of convalescence at this time; recovery is not yet, but it will come, just as it has before. If there are those who prefer to turn this picture to the wall, it is too bad, because this attitude of mind is in a degree responsible for postponing the much desired recovery.

Economic depressions in the past have lasted an average of from ten to fifteen months. Confusion and readjustment always follow the first crash. Readjustment has now been going on for several months in business and industry throughout the country; it is fourteen months since the stock market debacle of October, 1929. The banking institutions of the country are sound, with countless millions of timid dollars in their vaults that would stimulate the return of prosperity if turned into the channels of trade. And there is every reason to believe that this is taking place; that people have ceased to hoard, and are beginning to spend. They have, in a measure, ceased to be stampeded by fear, and are becoming conscious of the fact that they can safely buy the things they need, thereby making their dollars count for a return of prosperous times. This is a good sign, for it helps business. Good business conditions help the manufacturer. And both employ labor. When the people hoard, they create unemployment. When they spend, they relieve unemployment.

Other constructive agencies, all along the line, are at work. Federal and state governments, and industry generally are setting the example by appropriating and spending millions of dollars, which also will find their way into the channels of trade. And, with indomitable courage, initiative, and resourcefulness the leaders in business and industry have taken the reins in hand, and are driving straight on, confident that the worst is over and better going is ahead.

Dynamite Cap Put In Stove; 6 Hurt

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 18 (AP)—Explosion of a dynamite cap placed by a pupil in the stove in a public school at Cottam, 25 miles from here, caused injury to six children today.

A boy lost the thumb and two fingers of his right hand. Two other children were burned severely about the face and three others suffered from minor burns and shock. There were about 30 pupils in the school.

HOUSE PASSES FARM MEASURE

Federal Board Voted 150 Million for Agricultural Aid

Washington, Dec. 18. (AP)—The house voted to give the federal farm board an additional $150,000,000 of its revolving fund today and the measure was well on its way through the senate before nightfall.

The senate appropriations committee gave approval to the proposal and sent it to the senate floor.

This appropriation would swell the total given the board thus far to $400,000,000 and it plans to ask for the remaining $100,000,000 of the $500,000,000 authorized for use in the next fiscal year. The fund approved today is for immediate use in stabilization cooperative marketing association loan operations.

Testifying before the house appropriations committee for the additional funds, Chairman Legge said the board was making some progress in bringing about relief.

The board has been able, he said, to maintain wheat prices in this country artificially. He said if it had not been for the board's grain stabiligation efforts the price of wheat would be 25 cents a bushel.

"It is true today" Legge said, "that low as the price is, it is artificially maintained, not only on wheat but other grains."

STEEG CABINET SURVIVES TEST

French Ministry Given Confidence Vote by Slim Margin

Paris, Dec. 18, (AP)—Premier Theodore Steeg and his six-day-old cabinet today captured a vote of confidence by a majority of only seven votes in their first appearance before a hostile chamber of deputies.

The vote was 291 against 284, and the oppositionists vowed they would overthrow the new ministry after the New Year's recess.

Steeg's day began in an air of pessimism. After much effort last week he finally formed a ministry to succeed that of Andre Tardieu and immediate attacks and defections began. The situation was made worse by the resignation of three officials this afternoon just before the cabinet went before the chamber with its initial declaration of policy.

The ministers of pensions, Robert Thoumyre, Rene Coty, undersecretary of state for the interior, and Camille Cautru, under-secretary for agriculture, were the men who quit. As representatives of the Republicans of the left and moderate center groups they opposed M. Steeg's ministerial declaration in favor of laical schools as opposed to the giving of religous instruction.

But this very thing won the favor of the left groups, which staged a demonstration of enthusiasm such as seldom is seen even in the temperamental French lower house, and brought the necessary although slender victory.

Jury Convicts Man Of Robbing Bank

Pontiac, Mich., Dec. 18(AP)—Frank Martin, alias Myron Ostoff, 36, of Detroit, was convicted by a jury in circuit court today of robbing the American State Bank branch in Ferndale last August 27.

Martin was identified by Frank Marsh, manager of the bank, as the man who forced him to open the vault, then bound him and escaped with $2,700.

County authorities said Martin's arrest came through a tip from an unidentified 16 year old boy who said he had heard Martin boasting of a hold-up "out Woodward avenue." The prosecution told the court Martin had served two prison terms in Pennsylvania.

Sentence was deferred until Monday.

GIRL TO TELL HER STORY TO JURORS TODAY

FORCED TO INVITE VICTIM TO PARTY, SHE CLAIMS

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—Margaret Owen, burlesque actress who has said, according to police, that she unwittingly lured Gerald E. (Jerry) Buckley to his death, will tell her story before the 22-man Wayne county grand jury tomorrow, if her condition permits, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy said tonight.

Miss Owen, a patient at the psycopathic ward of Receiving hospital, told police she had called the radio political commentator by telephone, at the request of a man whose identity has not been revealed, and invited him to a post-recall election celebration party. She said she asked him to wait for her in the lobby of the La Salle hotel.

Forced To "Ditch" Date

It was in the hotel lobby that Buckley was shot down by three men early July 23, two hours after he had announced the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles, a movement he had sponsored militantly through his radio station, WMBC.

Miss Owen told police she had not kept her appointment with Buckley, at the insistance of the man who had instructed her to extend the invitation.

Miss Owen collapsed at the theater where she is playing, on November 29, and was taken to Receiving hospital. She claimed to have been given poisoned whisky by a man she has since identified as Dominick Ferro. Ferro is being held as a grand jury witness.

At the hospital, physicians were unable to find any trace of poison and diagnosed her ailment as a form of hysteria to which, they said, she had long been subject.

Lake May Testify

Miss Owen was to have appeared as a witness at the trial of Nicholas Dellabonta, said to have been a friend of the girl, and Frank Callmone, who are charged with slaying two Grosse Pointe park policemen last summer. Their trial, which was to have started December 1, was continued because of her illness.

Police said the girl gave them the name of the man who prompted the call to Buckley. They would not say whether he had been arrested.

Another possible witness in tomorrow's grand jury session is Frankie Lake, reputed erstwhile lieutenant of Terry Druggan's gang in Chicago.

Lake, who came to Detroit two and a half years ago, has been operating a legitimate coal and ice business, police said. He was taken into custody about ten days ago, but was released. Prosecutor Toy said Lake and one of his employes were to be questioned about "some features of the Buckley case" but that they would not be held.

Guatemala Regains Peace After Revolt

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Dec. 18 (AP)—Peace had returned to Guatemala tonight after a revolution which installed General Manauei Orrellana as the third president the country has had within a week. The congress indicated in a formal manifesto a belief that the trouble was definitely over.

SHOPPING
XMAS

It isn't always easy to decide just what to buy Mother for Christmas.

There's one good thing about it, though; the sales girl generally has some nice ideas, and she's always glad to share them with you and help you make your selection.

However, if you wait until the last day to do your shopping, the sales girl can't do you much good. She's rushed, then, and so are you. You buy something hit-or-miss—and often it's miss.

Get mother's present now—while there is time to talk things over.

DEATH CLAIMS NOTED JOCKEY

Clarence Kummer Rode Man O' War and Other Famed Horses

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Clarence Kummer, whose heels booted the great Man O'War home and drove some of America's finest thoroughbreds to victory less than a decade ago, died of pneumonia today at his home in Jamaica, Queens. He had been ill only a week. He was 31 years old.

Kummer, one of the outstanding jockeys of his time, was driven from the saddle by increasing weight sometime ago after a career stretching from his apprentice days in 1915 through triumphs in almost every important stake on American tracks. His mounts, among them Man O'War, Chance Play, Audacious, Snob, Blazes, Westy Hogan, Naturalist and Ladkin, brought him home first, usually after brilliant rides and nose-to-nose duels in the stretch, in many classics. The only major stakes that evaded him were the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Futurity.

Tried to Reduce

Last spring, seeking a comeback, Kummer went into training for several months under Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, conditioner of Gallant Fox, but he could not remove enough weight to get back to active riding. He was negotiating for a position as a trainer when he became ill, probably as an indirect result of his exertions in the spring.

Two magnificent rides stand out above all others in Kummer's colorful career. Famous as a strategist and finisher, Kummer brought Man O'War from the ruck in the stretch of the Dwyer Stakes in 1920 and through sheer generalship and lavish use of the whip drove the great Riddle thoroughbred home in front of John P. Grier, Harry Payne Whitney's star.

Drove Ladkin to Win

In 1924 Kummer was credited with another masterful bit of riding in an international match race classic of that year. He was astride Ladkin in a neck and neck finish in which his mount defeated Epinard, famous French racer.

As an apprentice rider for Sandy McNaughton, almost fifteen years ago, Kummer was a sensation and rose rapidly to a position where many of the turf experts hailed him as the greatest of all jockeys.

ed if such a remark had been made.

Miss Brown quoted Mrs. Shepard as making the declaration after the patient asked her to obtain a liquor bottle from Major Shepard's closet and bring it to the bedside. The witness said hse smelled the contents at the request of Mrs. Shepard and had pronounced the odor "peculiar."

Mrs. Shepard, the witness continued, asked if enough remained in the bottle to make a test for poison. Miss Brown said she replied there was not, the bottle containing only a table spoonful of liquid. The bottle then was returned to the closet, the nurse said.

A defense motion for discharge of the jury as the result of Miss Brown's testimony was overruled.

Sergeant Gresser testified he talked to Mrs. Shepard five days after she was stricken.

"Mrs. Shepard told me she was being poisoned," he said without amplifying the purported statement.

To Jury Saturday

The witnesses were called in rebuttal by the prosecution after the defense rested late in the morning by placing on the stand several physicians who stated that from all the evidence they would not pronounce Mrs. Shepard's death due to mercurial poisoning as charged by the government.

As the case drew to an end both sides centered their evidence around Mrs. Shepard without mention of Miss Grace Brandon, blond stenographer of San Antonio, for the love of whom the 59-year old defendant is charged with having disposed of his wife.

It appeared likely tonight that final arguments woul dbegin tomorrow afternoon with the case going to the jury some time Saturday.

Banker's Case Will Go to Jury Today

Flint, Mich., Dec. 18 (AP)—Cross examination of Grant J. Brown, former president of the Union Industrial bank now on trial for embezzling $30,368 of the bank's funds, was completed in circuit court late today and prospects tonight were that the case would be in the jury's hands before adjournment tomorrow.

Brown, who is conducting his own defense, said he had another witness or two to offer tomorrow and then he would rest his case. There has been no intimation that the state will offer any rebuttal testimony.

The entire afternoon was devoted to cross-examination of Brown by Prosecutor Charles D. Beagle. Brown took the stand late yesterday to give a prepared statement in his own defense.

CONFEREES ON DROUGHT BILL REACH ACCORD

work against the present policy based on national origins. Secretary Doak agreed and an alternative method of cutting down permanent visiting was suggested.

AGREE ON RELIEF

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The way was opened tonight for early enactment of the emergency program by congress with an agreement by conferees on a compromise $45,000,000 drought bill.

The compromise will be taken up for final approval tomorrow as other conferees reassemble to consider differences between the senate and the house on the emergency $116,000,000 employment appropriation.

Democrats waged determined assaults in both houses against President Hoover's recommendations but the administration forces held their majorities in line.

A decision of the house earlier in the day to pare down the $60,000,000 senate drought relief bill to $30,000,000 in accordance with the president's program was offset by the subsequent conference.

Food Loans Opposed

Senate conferees yielded to the insistence of the house to eliminate the provision for loaning money to farmers for the purpose of personal food—a proposal condemned by the administration—but gained an amendment to permit such loans in cases of extreme emergency.

The senate defeated a move to insist upon elimination from the $116,000,000 employment fund the provision giving the president power to allocate the money as he saw fit. A coalition of Democrats and Republican independents fought this provision but they lost, 42 to 39.

House Gets Measure

The compromise on the drought relief measure goes first to the house tomorrow. Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee, who was in charge of the conference, hopes it will be enacted before the end of the week.

The language inserted to permit loans for food in cases of extreme emergency provides that the secretary of agriculture may make loans not only for feed and fertilizer but for other purposes "incident to crop production."

Unsuccessful efforts were made by Democrats in the house to obtain favorable action on the senate measure, but the Republican leadership held rank and file in line and substituted the administration program barring loans for food by 225 to 147.

Seventeen Republicans and the lone Farmer-Labor.—Kvale of Minnesota.—voted with the Democrats. Six Democrats deserted the minority.

Reapportionment Plan Considered

Detroit, Dec. 18. (AP)—Representative Charles H. Culver notified city councilmen today that he and State Senator Ari Woodruff will introduce a bill in the next legislature providin gfor reapportionment of the state on a basis that would exclude aliens.

His notification was preliminary to a conference tomorrow between city councilmen and members of the Wayne county delegation in the state legislature on the legislative program to be sponsored.

Representative Culver said Detroit's reputedly large alien population was a factor in the large vote piled up in out-state counties last November against reapportionment measure which was then defeated.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "putting the matter on a citizenship instead of a population basis would reduce Wayne county's representation only from 32 per cent of the members in the legislature to 31 per cent."

Man Convicted of Kidnaping Girl

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fred Taite, 39, Canadian war veteran, was convicted by a recorder's jury this afternoon of abducting Pauline, Cronk, 4, on Octo. 28. He will be sentenced Saturday.

Taite's defense was that he was intoxicated and did not remember what had happened.

He was identified by numerous witnesses, including the child, as the man who lured her away from her home. He was arrested as he was returning her three hours later. The child said he took her to a room and there gave her a doll.

Installment Plan Makes Christmas In Berlin Easier

Berlin, Dec. 18 (AP)—Installment buying has made possible a goose on nearly every German table this Christmas, despite hard times. Many dealers have accepted payments equal to about 25 cents a week since early October.

A Christmas goose means the same thing in Germany as turkey means in America.

LOST WATCH FOUND

Pittsburgh, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fifteen years ago J. F. Bickerstaff reported his watch was lost or stolen. Today it was recovered from a pawn shop. Now the police can't find Bickerstaff.

Christmas carols originated in the Eleventh century, being sung between the scenes of the miracle and mystery plays of the period.

SLACK DEMAND FOR CURRENCY

Payroll Cuts and Commodity Price Declines Responsible

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Member banks of the federal reserve system entered the Christmas season of increased demand for currency with a smaller volume of indebtedness to the reserve banks that at any time since 1917.

The federal reserve board made this announcement today in its monthly review and said the system was in an exceptionally strong position to meet the demand.

It reported a decrease in demand for reserve bank credit had reflected a slack demand for currency due in part "to the decrease in payroll disbursements by factories, and to the continued decline in commodity prices."

The board reported that changes in monetary gold have not been large during the period from July to ovember either this year or, on the advance, for the preceding seven years.

"When the two sources off reserve-bank funds are combined it appears that this year the increase during the autumn was $96,000,000 as compared with $232,000,000 on the 7-year average," the ereport said. "This diminution in the growth is accounted for in part by the decrease in the seasonal demand for currency, which was only half as large this year as on the average for the preceding years, and in smaller part by a decrease of about $60,000,000 in the growth of member bank reserve balances.

"It is usual for member banks to increase their loans, and consequently their deposits and their reserve requirements during the autumn months, but this year the relatively small demand for bank credit, caused by the inactive state of business has resulted in a relatively small growth of bank credit and of bank reserves."

Pork Chops Price Drops 13 Per Cent

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Pork chops were 13 per cent cheaper November 15 than on October 15 and the average of all foods showed a decrease of about 2 per cent.

The month report of the bureau of labor statistics issued today showed a drop of 11½ per cent in prices reported from 51 representative cities as compared with November 15, 1929.

Fresh eggs, sugar and canned red salmon were the only reported items showing increases.

Oranges dropped 24 per cent during the month, navy beans 10 per cent, onions 7 per cent, potatoes, cabbage and prunes 6 per cent, butter 5 per cent, sirloin and round steak and chuck roast 3 per cent and other foods ranged from 4 to 1 per cent lower.

Finland Still Must Use Low Test Beer

Helsingfors, Finland, Dec. 18 (AP)—Coincident with reports that the government plans to introduce a proposal next spring for a referendum on national prohibition, the Finnish diet today finally defeated a bill to increase the alcoholic content of beer to 2.25 per cent.

The vote was 99 to 96, and dimmed the hopes of the wets for modification of the prohibition law at this time. At present a percentage of 1.6 alcohol is allowed in beer.

tion called for that purpose. The point really is whether in the tenth amendment is provided an alternative method or whether it exclusively refers to only one method, namely, constitutional conventions. Judge Clark seems to think that state legislatures do not have the power which a constitutional convention appears to have.

If the tenth amendment had used the word "and" to describe the reservation of powers so that the language read that the powers are reserved "to the states and to the people" it might have been argued that constitutional conventions namely, the method whereby the people themselves act, as well as the action of the state legislatures would be necessary. Since an alternative is provided all court decisions have been based heretofore on the theory that all the amendments hitherto adopted have been properly and legally ratified.

Three-Fourths Vote.

Ever since the prohibition problem was federalized by the eighteenth amendment there has been discussion as to methods whereby it could be modified and there is a school of thought which has consistently argued that constitutional conventions should be called in various states to pass upon the work of a national constitutional convention called for the very purpose of discussing amendments to the constitution or changes in existing amendments or articles.

The legislatures of two-thirds of the states can call such a national constitutional convention but the actions of such a national convention must in turn be ratified either by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states depending upon which method may be proposed by a twothirds vote of congress.

Every amendment to the constitution has been submitted by a two-thirds vote of congress and a definite method has been prescribed, namely, ratification by three-fourths of the legislatures. It may well be that a second alternative method would have been just as legal but there is no doubt that the method actually followed is also legal. When one says there is no doubt it means of course that so far as the decisions of the higher courts are concerned and so far as anyone can tell by reading past decisions of the supreme court of the United States there is about as much chance of ever seeing Judge Clark's decision sustained as there is of having the supreme court of the United States decide that the United States government was intended by its farmers to be a limited monarchy instead of a republic.

Convention Possible.

The effect of Judge Clark's decision nevertheless will be to advertise the alternative method of amending the constitution, namely, the constitutional convention idea. The only objection urged against it is that such a convention if once assembled would not only discuss prohibition but all other suggestions for changing the federal constitution.

The fact remains that various legislature have already passed resolutions favoring a constitutional convention and Judge Clark's decision will be viewed as encouragement of the constitutional convention idea. For even if the supreme court of the United States should hold that Judge Clark was wrong and that the eighteenth amendment was properly ratified there is nothing to prevent the calling of a constitutional convention, the adoption by that convention of a proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment or modify it, and subsequently the acceptance of such proposals either by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by constitutional conventions called in three-fourths of the states for that specific purpose.

Councilmen Accept Invitation, Trades And Labor Banquet

Two property owners appeared before the Escanaba city council last night to register objections to their assessments for the sanitary sewer extension in the alley north of Ludington street, between 20th and 21st streets. After a discussion, the council ordered a reassessment of the project.

The council accepted an invitation of the local Trades and Labor council to attend their banquet, scheduled for the evening of Dec. 22 at the Delta hotel.

A report of the fire chief submitted at the meeting showed 20 fires calls answered, with a total estimated damage of $835. This amount was distributed among four fires, one with damage of $600, $200, $25 and $10.

In the absence of Mayor W. H. Needham, the meeting was presided over by Elmer St. Martin, mayor pro tem.

Flyers Held Back By Bad Weather

Cartagena, Spain, Dec. 18 (AP)—Unfavorable weather tonight continued to hold Italy's trans-Atlantic air squadron apart, six of the fourteen planes which left Orbetello, Italy, yesterday remaining at Iviza, one of the Balearic Islands.

The six planes were expected to poin the other eight, which came down at Vartagena, tomorrow and it was believed the whole squadron would resume the flight whose final goal is Brazil probably Saturday.

LIFE SENTENCE

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 18 (AP)—Ernest Westphal, 38, who was convicted by a jury yesterday of slaying Earl Thompson at the home of the defendant's estranged wife, was sentenced today by Judge Fred W. George to serve a life sentence in Michigan state prison at Jackson.

King of Hoboes Is Visiting Escanaba On Western Trip

A smiling young man who champions the realm of hoboes, arrived in Escanaba Thursday evening to spread cheer during the allege business depression and visit our city. Joseph Leon Lazarowitz who has papers to disclose that he is the 'King' in person says business' cycles do not exist in his kingdom.

Lazarowitz went on to tell the difference between bums, tramps and hoboes. He indignantly denied that he was a bum or tramp. The king has visited every country in the world with the exception of Russia, as he does not believe in the Bolsheviks. In the western hemisphere every large city but one, where he is headed for now, Spokane, Wash.

While in Canada he said that the Canadians treated him with great courtesy and even gave him 'free' a coat, cap and suit with gloves. He said he is a Roumanian Hebrew.

Coming back to his fame, he was elected in Minneapolis, Sept. 10, 1927, succeeding James Eads Howe, deceased millionaire hobo, He related many interesting experiences. In Winnipeg he was given the 'Key to the City'. Our correspondent reports from the town of Newberry 'His Majesty' was in a store owned by A. Louis Newmark, a couple were making purchases dropped ten dollars upon the floor, which he discovered when they had gone. He hunted them up and returned the ten spot, an unusual thing for a hobo to do, but what else could be expected of a King? He told Mr. Gurney when he returned the money, "remember that not all hoboes are dishonest."

King J. Leon was born in Roumania but is now an American citizen by naturalization in Brooklyn, N. Y., where his parents reside. Leon is 25 and has traveled for 11 years, after six months more of travel he will settle down, write a book on his travels and mayhap marry the girl of his dreams, Miss Dorothy Rena Cohen of Portland, Maine. He came into Escanaba on the back end of the engine, of the C. & N. W. Passenger train, where he was met by a staff reporter.

Ex-County Sheriff Acquitted by Jury

Sandusky, Mich., Dec. 18 (AP)—A Sanilac county jury today acquitted John L. Hoffman, former sheriff of Huron county, of a charge of misappropriating county funds. The case was tried here on a change of venue from Huron county.

Hoffman was ousted from office last August by a Huron county grand jury which charged him with irregularities in office.

He is to be tried sometime after the first of the year on a charge of extorting exressive fees from person with whom he had official business. The charge also is based on the grand jury investigation.

SPAIN'S LINDY HAS ENJOYED HECTIC CAREER

plane gyrating with unaccustomed daring they at once guessed that Franco was its pilot.

In 1926 came nation-wide fame Franco projected a flight from Spain to South America, won government approval and made the trip—one long hop of more than 6,000 miles, broken by stops at the Canary and Cape Verde Islands and at the Island of Fernando de Noronha. He toured Rio, Montevideo and Buenos Aires, winning great enthusiasm all over South America.

U. S. Tour Canceled

He planned to fly north and tour the United States, but the government intervened and peremptorily ordered him home. He said he would fly back, adding that if permission were refused he would never fly again. The government insisted that he return by steamer—and when the Argentine government put a cruiser at his disposal he consented, forgetting his threat.

A few weeks after his return Franco bitterly criticied his army superiors, and spent two months in jail as a result. Later in the same year he was locked up for another month for making some other criticism of government policy. Then he began to lay ambitious plans for a world flight.

In 1928 he made his first attempt, taking off from Cadiz for New York. The attempt came to a quick end, however, when the plane was forced down only 100 miles from Cadiz with a plugged gasoline feed line. Franco came back and make ready for another start.

Rescued in Mid-Atlantic

In June, 1929, he was ready, and with three companions, took off in a seaplane for New York. A brief stop was made at the Azores, and the journey was resumed. Then again, came trouble. The plane was forced down at sea, and drifted about for a week, in imminent danger of being swamped by the high waves. At home, Franco was given up for dead, and the nation began to mourn its most popular hero.

But Franco was not dead. After his plane had drifted a week the British aircraft carrier Eagle found it and carried Franco and his companions back to Spain. Popular rejoicing was universal; Spain was as delighted as the United States would be if Lindbergh should be lost at sea and then brought home in safety.

Then Franco began to get into political trouble again. He was known to be an ardent republican. At the time that the late Premier de Rivera's regime fell, Franco openly expressed his disapproval of the monarchy; and a little more than a month ago he wrote heated articles against the government that he was arrested and sentenced to eight months' imprisonment.

Escapes From Prison

Instead of being confined in a regular prison he was put in an old convent on the outskirts of Madrid, where many political prisoners were lodged. The place was far from being escape-proof, and prisoners confined there are required to pledge themselves not to try to escape. This pledge the government says Franco gave; but three weeks after his arrival there he got out, twisting the bars out of a corridor window and dropping to the ground. He fled to the French frontier and began organizing brother aviators for the revolutionary forces and climaxed this by daring flights over Madrid, dropping revolutionary propaganda.

Considering Franco's hostility to the government and his great popularity with the masses, it is not surprising that his escape was soon followed by a revolt—a revolt with him playing a most spectacular part.

COURTESY IN PARKING

THE utter disregard being shown by motorists for the rights of others on our highways has aroused a clamor for the return of the good old-fashioned road courtesy that existed in the early days of the automobile. Incidentally, equally important is that automobile drivers show deference to the privileges of others in the parking of vehicles at street curbings.

During this busy Christmas shopping season in Escanaba especially the need of parking courtesy cannot be overemphasized. Any day one can find numerous automobiles parked in helter-skelter fashion along Ludington street. As a result, shoppers come out of stores and find their automobiles trapped in by the car that has been parked at a wrong angle. Much space is wasted because selfish or careless motorists fail to crowd up reasonably near to adjoining cars, and as a result shoppers are obliged to park a longer distance from the stores into which they want to enter.

Out-of-town shoppers, who are pressed for time when they visit Escanaba, are caused considerable delay because of incorrect parking, and consequently oftentimes return home without making all intended purchases. They go elsewhere to satisfy their needs, and Escanaba merchants and the community in general are the losers.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

NEWS dispatches on Monday, telling of the serious injury of Count Felix Von Luckner in an automobile accident near Waukegan, were read with sincere regrets by many friends he acquired while filling a lecture engagement here last winter.

Von Luckner, whose daring exploits during the world war won for him the nickname of "the German sea devil," has been engaged on the speaking platform in this country most of the time since 1926. Everywhere he has been given a friendly reception, his tales of adventure told with a slight German accent, interpolated with his familiar exclamation, "By Jo," holding the close attention of his audiences for two hours or more.

On appearances in numerous communities he has been the honored guest of the local posts of the American Legion. Time has healed the wounds of war. One can imagine what kind of a reception would have been accorded Von Luckner in this country back 12 years ago when in the war hysteria that gripped us, we were eager to believe the wild stories of arms and legs cut off Belgian babies and other atrocities supposedly committed by the Germans.

FOLLOWING THE STAR

THE best thing about Christmas is not the day itself. It is the period immediately preceding it.

If, as we fondly believe, the heavens parted and a shining miracle broke through on the Judea hills 20 centuries ago, the day of miracles is not over. There will not be any miracles on Christmas Day, of course—unless you count that shy, breath-taking look that comes into a child's eyes when he gets his first glimpse of the presents that are awaiting him; but during the last fortnight or so before Dec. 25 there is an authentic miracle in which the whole nation shares.

Look at it this way. During all of the rest of the year most of us human beings, sadly imperfect as we are, are moved by one chief motive—selfishness. Each of us is out for the main chance. It is every man for himself, without qualifications.

But when December begins to slide past us a change comes over us. We began to discover that there are others in the world besides ourselves. The thought of a hungry man or a disappointed child is too hard to bear. We actually find ourselves thinking about the sorrows and disappointments of our fellow men.

So, in every city and town in the land, we put on these "Give-a-Christmas" campaigns. We form committees to get the names of those unfortunates who are not going to be able to make much of a Christmas by their own efforts, and we collect money so that these people can be helped. We give, according to our ability, moved by the sincerest and finest motive that comes to us in the entire year. A Rockefeller gives a million dollars; we less gifted ones give our dollars and our half-dollars; and the result is a solidarity and a unity which the whole nation feels.

And the funny part about it is that it is not the recipient of this charity who is the chief gainer by it. It is the giver. The man who parts with money that he himself really needs, and gives it to those who have nothing at all, is doing a great deal more for himself than he ever imagines. He is putting himself in tune with something that is much bigger and profounder than he can guess. He is enabling himself to partake, in the best possible way, of the Spirit of Christmas.

And that Spirit, in turn—what is it? Isn't it, after all, the deep and imperishable conviction that all men are, or ought to be, brothers; the feeling that the fate of one is the concern of all; the belief that there is a God in the universe, and a soul, and a compassionate heart?

It is easy to envy the wise men their privilege of following the star and finding the ultimate meaning of creation in a Judean village. But that privilege is open to us, in a different way. We have our star, and we can follow it if we know what brotherhood and kindness mean—and if we do follow it we may rest assured that at least one gleam of light from beyond the borders of ordinary living will come to us and transfigure us.

NEIGHBORLINESS THAT PAYS

THE union of the cities and towns and resort centers of the eastern section of the upper peninsula has met such success and effected such economies that there is a probability that St. Ignace will join hands with the two Saults, Les Cheneaux, Munising and Newberry for the coming season.

All this is to the good.

These tourist centers by combining their funds for advertising purposes can accomplish the same ends with far greater efficiency than if each one struck out for itself. Duplications are avoided. A machine is set up that is powerful and business-like. The story of the attractions of this section of Hiawathaland can be told in a way that will reach the greatest number of prospective tourists. Each community in the pool can reach the ear of thousands upon thousands of next summer's customers in advance and impressively.

One of the finest factors of this get-together by the towns involved is the abolishment of envy and nasty rivalry. It is a builder of friendships between the communities. It is an association for the promotion of the district—and when the district is promoted each part of it is benefited.

Strength will certainly be added to the appeal of Grand Marais and St. Ignace by joining the association. Their claims as points of beauty and of delight for the summer visitor can be heralded to the world alluringly through the combined efforts of all. The cost will be less than either has been spending individually hitherto. And each member of the pool will get the help of all the other members.

This is neighborliness that pays in dollars and in friendship.
—Sault Ste. Marie News.

It is often necessary for a man to be thrust in the lap of fortune to be put on his feet, says the office sage.

The trouble with some men who take an important step in life, says the office sage, is that they quickly lose their stride.

The president and Congress get along, as the old simile goes, like two Seidlitz powders in a glass of water.

Anniversary

MICHELSON'S BIRTH

On Dec. 19, 1852, Albert Michelson, eminent American physicist, famed for determining the speed of light, was born in Strelno, Germany.

Michelson came to this country as a youth and was educated in the public schools of San Francisco. He entered the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and upon graduation became instructor of physics and chemistry there. He later taught at the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O., Clark University, Worcester, Mass., and the University of Chicago.

It was while he was in Cleveland that he divised an apparatus for measuring distances by means of the length of lightwaves. He later determined with great accuracy the speed at which light travels.

During the World War, Michelson devoted his entire time to new devices for naval use. His range finder, for example, was adopted as part of the equipment of the U. S. Navy. In 1920 he achieved the distinction of being the first ever to give the approximate accurate size of a star when he demonstrated, by means of light interference, that the diameter of Betelgeuse was 260,000,000 miles.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

Copyright 1930 by Douglas Malloch

EARTH AND SKY

The sk is beautiful, but I,
I love the green earth more.
The heavens seem so very far,
The world so near my door.
Above me are the splendid stars
So radiantly bright,
But here are paths, and pasture-bars,
And little lamps at night.

The sky is beautiful, ah, yes,
And yet the good, green earth
Gives me each day her loveliness,
Each day a whole life's worth.
How many of his weary ones
The sun has left a-thirst,
But, oh, how many of her sons
Old mother earth has nursed.

The sky is beautiful, but flow'rs
Are beautiful to see,
And all the cycle of the hours
Earth spreads a feast for me.
And even when the thing is through,
When all of life is past,
Earth's is the breast I turn me to
And find my rest, at last.

MURDER AT BRIDGE

(By NEA Service)

By ANNE AUSTIN

CHAPTER XXVI

"Sprague admitted to me this morning, after I had confronted him with proofs, that he sometimes slept in the upstairs bedroom—"

"I told you they were lovers!" Penny interrupted.

"—and that he slept there Friday night, after he and Nita had quarreled. He still contends that the row was over that movie-of-Hamilton business," Dundee went on, as if she had not spoken. "He admitted also that Nita had told him to take his things away when he left Saturday morning, but he says it was only because she didn't want Ralph Hammond to find a man's belongings there if he had occasion to go into the upstairs rooms in making his estimates for the finishing up of the other side. But he contends, and Lydia Carr, whom I also saw again this morning, supports him in it, that he stayed in the house occasionally when Nita was particularly nervous about being alone, and that they were not lovers."

"Pooh! . . . Don't wipe the flowers off that plate. Here's another."

"I'm inclined to say 'Pooh!' too, Penny," Dundee assured her, "but Tracey Miles told me last night when he came to get Lydia that Nita really seemed to be in love with Ralph—part of the time, at least."

"Nita thought enough of Dexter Sprague to send for him to come down here, and to root her head off for him to get the job of making the movie," Penny reminded him fiercely, making a great splashing in the dishpan.

"Then—you don't think she was in love with Ralph?" Dundee asked.

"Oh, I don't know!" the girl cried. "I thought so sometimes—had the grace to hope so, anyway, since Ralph was so crazy about her."

"That's the point, Penny," Dundee told her gently. "Everyone I've talked to this morning, including Sprague, seems sure that Ralph Hammond was mad about Nita Selim."

"So of course he would kill her!" Penny scoffed bitterly.

"Yes, Penny—when he discovered Sprague's easily-recognized cravats draped over the mirror frame in a bedroom in Nita's house. . . For they were there to be seen when Ralph went into that bedroom yesterday morning."

"How do you know he saw them?"

"Because he left this behind him," Dundee admitted reluctantly, and wiped his hands before drawing an initialed silver pencil from his breast pocket. "I found it under the edge of the bed. The initials are R. H."

"Yes, I recognize it," Penny admitted, turning sharply away. "I gave it to him myself, for a Christmas present. I thought I could afford to give silver pencils away then. Dad hadn't bolted yet—" She crooked an elbow and leaned her face against it for a moment. Then she flung up her brown bobbed head defiantly. "Well?"

"Ralph must have been—well, in a pretty bad way, since he loved Nita and wanted to—marry her," Dundee persisted painfully.

"Remember that Polly Beale found him still there when she stopped to offer Nita a lift to Breakaway Inn. It is not hard to imagine what took place. We know that Polly curtly canceled her luncheon engagement with Nita and the rest of you, and went into town with Ralph, after making sure that Clive would join them. I saw young Hammond myself for an instant, without knowing who he was, and I remember now thinking that he looked far too ill to eat. I was lunching at the Stuart House myself when they came into the dining room, you know."

"Plenty to hang him on, I see!" Penny cried furiously.

"There's a little more, Penny," Dundee went on. "Polly Beale and Clive Hammond were mortally afraid that Ralph would come to the cocktail party! I'm sure Clive made Ralph promise to stay away, and that both Clive and Polly did not trust him to keep his promise. That is why, I am sure, Clive beckoned Polly to join him in the solarium, without entering the living room to speak to Nita. You remember they said they stayed there all during the playing of—"

"If you call it the 'death hand' again, I'll scream!"

"All right. . . They stayed there until Karen discovered the murder. I am sure they chose that place because of its many windows—they could watch for Ralph's car, dash out and head him off. Take him away by force if necessary, to keep him from making a scene. I believe they knew he had murder in his heart, and that he would find a way to get a gun—"

"Have you also found out that he stole Hugo's gun yesterday?"

"I have found that it was possible for him to do so," Dundee

'Looking Backward'

DECEMBER 19, 1010

Dr. Ferris Summerbell was over from Nahma Wednesday on a business trip and attended the physicians' banquet.

For the first time this season, Little Bay de Noc was yesterday morning almost completely frozen over. The ice sheet extended out from this shore to the eastward but the ice was not solid and several nights of low temperature will be needed before the skaters can skate across the bay.

Q. R. Hessell arrived from Wisconsin with a carload of horses weighing from 3,000 to 3,500 pounds.

Mrs. Edward Specht, who recently underwent an operation at the Cottage Hospital has sufficiently recovered to be about. Mrs. Specht was formerly Miss Lillian Poole.

Margaret and Marie, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gunter, entertained 13 children at their home Thursday, Dec. 15, the occasion being their 13th birthday anniversary. The home was appropriately decorated for the party.

The condition of Rev. Fr. Joseph Langan was yesterday reported to be slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Connelly and Mrs. Lee Frink have left for a visit at Chicago and Milwaukee.

H. A. Bauman of Alfred, who for several years has conducted extensive lumbering operations in the peninsula, has closed out practically all his possessions in this district and will leave soon for his former home at Grayling in the lower peninsula.

The C. F. Smith Post No. 174 G. A. R., presented to the Rev. Frederick Spence Saturday afternoon, an American flag with cup, belt and standard. The flag is for the Boy Scouts and the presentation was made by Capt. A. H. Rolph.

A formal presentation will be made in the basement of the First M. E. Church Sunday.

The Daisy Theatre, formerly owned by W. LeDuc, has changed hands and Mrs. M. O. Brown is now the owner and has decided to change the name to Majestic Theatre.

Health Tips

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Investigations undertaken by the United States Public Health Service finally revealed the cause of the paralysis resulted from the taking of bootleg ginger extract, as the substane called triothocresyl phosphate.

While it was thought at first that the symptoms were due to phenol or carbolic acid, the tests that have been made have finally narrowed the responsibility down to the special form of phenol that has been mentioned.

In the studies made it was found that the quantity of the ginger fluid consumed was not the important factor in the occurrence of the symptoms. One drink seemed to produce the same effects as those following prolonged use.

Usually the symptoms did not appear until 10 days after the taking of ginger extract. The person developed what is called wrist drop and foot drop with paralysis of the muscles of the arm and leg, indicating that in some manner that portion of the nervous system involving the control of muscular action had been damaged by the poison.

Whereas ordinarily cresols, such as carbolic acid, act promptly when taken into the system, the action of the cresyl phosphate responsible in the case of the ginger extract poisoning is slow. It also seems to have a special affinity for the parts of the nervous system that have been mentioned.

Nobody seems to know exactly why the manufacturer of the bootleg ginger put in the triorthocresyl phosphate, whether it was done accidentally or on purpose. Probably it was added order to aid in producing intox cation, and probably without an knowledge by the chemist wh made up the formula that th drug would have the effects tha have occurred.

Methodist Program

The children of the Methodist Sunday school are putting on a pageant on Christmas eve at 7:30 o'clock. It is called Joy Bells and is based on the theme that, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The Christmas symbols, stars, candles and bells all have an important part in bringing this idea to your attention and are portrayed by the children in the primary and junior departments. The songs which form a pleasing background to the pageant are sung by a large group of the older girls.

Catholic Program

A Christmas program will be rendered at the Sacred Heart parochial school auditorium this afternoon for the pupils of all the grades from first to eighth. There will be a Christmas tree and gifts will be exchanged among the pupils and there will be a Santa Claus to distribute the gifts. Each pupil will also receive a box of candy.

SHOPLIFTING

There have been several more cases of shoplifting in the city. The latest case reported was by Borah Osser whose store was robbed of women's apparel one day this week.

The clinic will be held under the direction of Miss Feldhausen. Drs. Tearman, Scholtes and Cornelienson will examine the babies.

SOCIAL

Mrs. Charles R. Everett entertained the members of St. John's Guild last Wednesday afternoon at her home on East Chocolay street at a Christmas party. The decorations were tastefully arranged and appropriate for the occasion. A buffet lunch was served.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mrs. Ella Schwartz and daughters, the Misses Sara and Justina, returned home Wednesday evening from a visit with relatives and friends at Grand Rapids and Kalkaska.

Miss Elinor LaVake, who is a student at St. Theresa college, Winona, Minn., is home to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust LaVake.

John Hawkins went to Marquette yesterday to attend the monthly safety meeting of railroad men.

Frank Featherly, superintendent of the Chatham infirmary, was in the city on business yesterday.

Business visitors in the city yesterday were: O. D. Lyons, Marquette; R. C. Barr, Chicago; E. A. Winters, Sheboygan, Wis.; E. R. Watson, Flint; J. Work, Ann Arbor.

The following named students will arrive here this week to spend the holidays with parents, relatives and friends: Harold Bjornstad and George Goss from U. of M.; Una and Martha Evansen from Detroit college; Esther Kemp from Marquette University, Milwaukee; Charles Jackson, Robt. Farrel, Paul Simonen and Don Becker, Michigan Tech, Houghton.

Sol Marks will arrive in Munising this week from Detroit on a visit to his brother Sam and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Piehl arrived home from Taxas yesterday. They went there several weeks ago and had intended remaining south during the winter, but conditions were unfavorable.

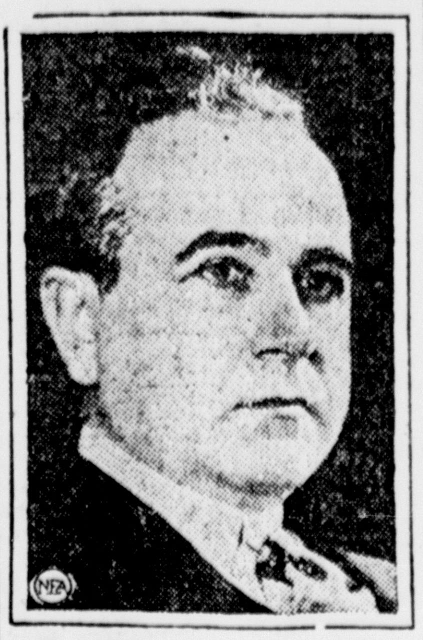
Howard Berkel, Charles Symon, Mary Milchuch, Lila Riihimaa, Mary Hayes and Ruby Blizel arrived home today from Marquette Normal to spend the holidays with their parents.

Mrs. Frank VanLangden of Grand Island leaves next Tuesday for Green Bay to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Ed Greenland.

How to Light the Tree.

To combine in equal proportions red and green lights of equal brightness on your Christmas tree is an assault on the eyesight. The result suggests traffic signals gone mad. Two parts of green to one of red may be used effectively.

Brazil's Ruler



Here is a new camera study of Getulio Dornellas Vargas, chief of the provisional government set up in Brazil following the recent revolution. It is his latest photo, taken since he took office.

CHRISTMAS CARDS.

Sir Henry Cole, an English social and educational reformer, invented the first Christmas card. It was six inches long and four inches wide, and depicted in the panels formed by a leafy trellis two acts of charity—clothing the needy and feeding the hungry. Last year more than $100,000,000 worth of Christmas cards were sold in the United States.

MURDER AT BRIDGE

said slowly. "The butler was off for the afternoon until 6 o'clock. There was no one in the house but the nursemaid and the three-months-old baby."

"Well? And I suppose you think Clive and Polly didn't have a chance to head Ralph off, as you say, but that they did see him running away after he killed her?" Her voice was still brittle with anger, but there were indecision and fear in it, too.

"No," Dundee replied. "I don't think they saw him. I feel pretty sure he came into the house by the back way, and through the back hall into Nita's room. He must have known Clive and Polly would be on the lookout for him . . . At any rate, I have proof that whoever shot Nita from in front of that window near the porch door fled toward the back hall."

And he told her of the big bronze lamp, whose bulb had been broken, reminding her of its place at the head of the chaise longue which was set between the two west windows.

"That was the 'bang or bump' Flora Miles heard while she was hiding in the closet," he explained. "I suppose Flora has told all of you about it? . . . I thought so. Muffled as she was in the closet, it is unlikely that she could have heard Nita's frantic whisperings to Ralph. . . I doubt if he spoke at all. . . Nita must have been sure he was leaving by the porch door—"

Dimly there came the ring of the telephone. With a curt word, Penny excused herself to answer it. Dundee went on polishing glasses with a fresh towel. . .

"Bonnie!" Penny was coming back, walking like a somnambulist, her brown eyes wide and fixed. "That was—Ralph! And he doesn't even know Nita is dead!"

"Of course I recognized his voice instantly when he said, 'That you, Penny?' and it's a wonder to me I didn't scream," said Penny Crain, fighting her way up through dazed bewilderment to explain in detail, in answer to Dundee's pelting questions. "I said, 'Of course, Ralph . . . Where have you been? . . . And he said, in that coaxing, teasing voice of his that I know so well: 'Peeved, Penny? . . . I don't blame you, honey. You really ought not to let me come over and explain why I stood you up last night, but you will, won't you? . . . Ni-i-ze Penny!' . . . That's exactly how he talked, Bonnie Dundee! Exactly! Oh, don't you see he couldn't know that Nita is dead?"

"Did you ask him where he was?" Dundee asked finally.

"No. I just told him to come on over, and he said I could depend on it that he wouldn't waste any time . . . Oh, Bonnie! What shall we do?"

"Listen, Penny!" Dundee urged rapidly. "You must realize that I've got to see and hear, but I don't want Ralph Hammond to see me until after he's had a talk with you. Will you let me eavesdrop behind these portieres? . . . I know it's a beastly thing to do, but—"

Penny agreed at last, and within 10 minutes after that amazing telephone call Dundee, from behind the portieres that separated the dining and living rooms, heard Penny greeting her visitor in the little foyer. She had played fair; had not gone out into the hall to whisper a warning—if any warning was needed.

He had seen Ralph Hammond enter the dining room of the Stuart House the day before, in company with Clive Hammond and Polly Beale, when the three had been strangers to him; but Dundee told himself now that he would hardly have recognized the young man whom Penny was preceding into her living room. The Ralph Hammond of Saturday had had a white, drawn face and sick eyes. But this boy. . .

Like his older brother, Clive, Ralph Hammond had dark-red, curling hair. But unlike his brother's, his eyes were a wide, candid hazel—the green iris thickly flecked with brown. A little shorter than Clive, a trifle more slender. But that which held the detective's eyes was something less tangible but at once more evident than superlative masculine good looks. It was a sort of shy joyousness and buoyance, which flushed the tan of his cheeks, sang in his voice, made his eyes almost unbearably bright.

Before Penny Crain, very pale and quiet, could sink into the chair she was groping toward, Ralph Hammond was at her side, one arm going out to encircle her shoulders.

"Don't look like that, Penny!" Dundee heard him plead, his voice suddenly humble. "You've every right to be sore at me, honey, but please don't be. I know I've been an awful cad these last few weeks, but I'm myself again. I'm cured now, Penny—"

"Wait, Ralph!" Penny protested faintly, holding back as he would have hugged her hard against his breast. "What about —Nita?"

Dundee saw the young man's face go darkly red, but heard his boyish voice answer almost steadily: "I hoped you'd understand without making me put it into words, honey. . . I'm cured of—Nita. I can't express it any other way except to say I was sick, and now I'm cured—"

"You mean"—Penny faltered, but with a swift, imploring glance toward Dundee—"you don't love Nita any more? You can't deny you were terribly in love with her, Ralph. Lois told us—told me last night that Nita had told her in strictest confidence that she had promised to marry you, just Thursday night—"

The boy's face was very pale as he dropped his hands from Penny's shoulders, but Dundee, from behind the portieres, was not troubling to spy for the moment. He was too indignant at Penny for having withheld from him the vital fact of Nita's engagement to Ralph Hammond.

"That's true, Penny," Ralph was saying dully. "You have a right to know, because I'm asking you to marry me now. . . I did propose to Nita again Thursday night, and she did accept me. I confess now I was wild with happiness—"

"Why did she refuse you before?" Penny cut in, and Dundee silently thanked her for asking the question he would have liked to ask himself. "Was it because she wasn't sure she was in love with you?"

"You're making it awfully hard for me, honey," the boy protested, then admitted humbly. "Of course you want to know, and you should know. . . No, she said all along, almost from the first, that she loved me more than I could love her, but that there were—reasons. . . Two reasons, she always said, and once I asked her jealously if they were both men, but she looked so startled and then laughed so queerly that I didn't ask again. . Then I thought it might be because I was younger than she was, though I can't believe she is more than 23 or so, and I'm 25, you know. And once I got cold-sick because I thought she might still be married, but she said her husband was married again, and I wasn't to ask questions or worry about him—"

"But she did accept you Thursday night?" Penny persisted.

"Yes," the boy admitted, his face darkly flushed again. "This is awfully hard, honey, but I'll tell you once for all and get it over with. . . I took her to dinner. We drove to Burnsville because she said she was sick of Hamilton. When we were driving back she suddenly became very queer—reckless, defiant. . . . And she asked me if I still wanted to marry her, and I said I did. I asked her right then to say when, and she said she'd marry me June first, but she added—" and the boy, to Dundee's watching eyes, seemed to be genuinely puzzled again by what must have sounded so odd at the time — "that she'd marry me June first if she lived to see the day."

"Oh!" Penny gasped, then, controlling her horror, she asked with what sounded like real curiosity, "Then what—happened, Ralph? Why do you propose to her on Thursday and to me on—on Sunday?"

"A gorgeous actress sacrificed to the typewriter," Dundee told himself, as he waited for Ralph Hammond's reluctant reply.

"Can't we forget it, honey? . . . You do love me a little, don't you? Can't you take my word for it that—I'm cured now—forever?"

Penny's hands went up to cover her face, and Dundee had the grace to feel very sorry indeed for her—sorry even if she intended to give her promise to Ralph Hammond, as a sick feeling in his stomach prophesied that she was about to do.

"How can I know you're really —cured, if I don't know what cured you?" he heard Penny's faltering voice ask huskily from behind the screen of her hands.

"I suppose you're right," the boy admitted miserably. "There's no need to ask you not to tell anyone else. Although I don't want to see her again ever— Why, Penny, I wouldn't even tell Polly and Clive yesterday, after it happened, though Polly guessed and went upstairs. . . I tried to keep her back—"

"I don't—quite understand, Ralph," Penny interrupted. "You mean something happened when you were at Nita's house yesterday morning?"

"Yes. Judge Marshall had promised Nita to have the unfinished half of the top story turned into a maid's bedroom and bath and a guest bedroom and bath. Clive let me go to make the estimates. Of course I was glad of the chance to see Nita again—I hadn't been with her since Thursday night. But she had to take Lydia in for a dentist's appointment, and they left me alone in the house. I had to go into the finished half to make some measurements, and in the bedroom I found—oh, God!" he groaned, and pressed a fist against his trembling mouth.

"You found that Dexter Sprague was staying there, was using the bedroom that used to be mine—didn't you?" Penny helped him at last, in desperation.

"How did you know?" The boy stared at the girl blankly for a moment, then seemed to crumple as if from a new blow. "I suppose it was common gossip that Nita and Sprague were lovers, and I was the only one she fooled! . . My God! To think all of you would stand by and let me marry her—a cheap little gold-digger from Broadway, living with a cheap four-flusher she couldn't get along without and had to send for—"

"Did you—want to kill her, Ralph?" Penny whispered hoarsely, touching one of his knotted fists with a trembling hand.

"Kill her? . . . Good Lord, no!" the boy flung at her violently. "I'm not such an ass as that! You girls are all alike! Polly had so little sense as to think I'd want to kill Nita and Sprague both! She couldn't see, and neither could Clive, that all I wanted was to get away from everybody and get so drunk I could forget what a fool I'd been—"

"What did you do, Ralph?" Penny asked urgently.

"Why, I got drunk, of course," the boy answered, as if surprised at her persistence. "Darling, you wouldn't believe me if I told you how much rot-gut Scotch it took to put me under, but that filthy bootlegging hotel clerk would have charged me double if he had known how much good it would do me."

"Hotel?" Penny snatched at the vital word. "Where did you go to get drunk, Ralph?"

"I never realized before you had so much curiosity, honey," the boy grinned at her. "After I shook Clive—Polly went on to Nita's bridge party, because she couldn't throw her down at the last minute—I wandered around till I came to the Railroad Men's Hotel, down on State street, you know, the other side of the tracks. It's a miserable dump, but I sort of hankered for a place to hide in that was as miserable and cheap as I felt—"

"Did you register under your own name?"

"Ashamed of me, Penny? . . . No, I registered under my first two names—Ralph Edwards. And the clerk turned out to be a bootlegger. . . Well, when I woke up about 11 this morning I give you my word I wasn't sick and headachy, though God knows I'd drunk enough to put me out for a week. . . Penny, I woke up feeling—well, I can't explain it but to say I felt light and new and—clean. . . All washed-up! At first I thought my heart was empty—it felt so free of pain. But as I lay there I found my heart wasn't empty at all. It was brimming full of love— Gosh, honey! I sound like a Laura Jean Libby hero, don't I? . . . But before I rang you from the lunchroom where I ate breakfast I wrote Nita a special delivery note, telling her it was all off. I had to be free actually, before I could ask you. . . You will marry me, won't you, Penny honey? . . . I knew this morning I had never really loved anyone else—"

Penelope Crain remained rigid for a moment, then very slowly she laid both her hands on his head, for he had knelt and buried his face against her skirt. But as she spoke, her brown eyes, enormous in her white face, were upon Dundee, who had stepped silently from behind the portieres.

"Yes. I'll marry you, Ralph! . . . You may come in now, Mr. Dundee!"

AT THE MICHIGAN

To those who think that the hey-day of the circus has passed, Pathe's new musical circus romance "Swing High" will particularly appeal. For this spectacular talkie deals with life under the Big Top as it existed in 1875—the most picturesque period in circus history.

In those days the circus had no machinery to put up and take down its tents, no mechanical contrivances for loading its paraphernalia on railway flat cars, no tractor to pull the heavy loads to and from shipping points.

Instead, its Big Top was erected and torn down by hardy, singing roustabouts who plied their sledge hammers with amazing skill. It moved from town to town by means of its own wagon train, bad weather often meaning mired wagons and a delay in the performance in the next town. When it was necessary to handle unusually heavy loads, elephants were employed.

The glamour and romance of the circus at its picturesque best is contained in "Swing High," which will be seen at the Michigan theatre today. A complete circus troupe was engaged for its filming, with all the clowns, acrobats, bare-back riders, trapeze performers, wild animals, spangles and glitter that go to make up "the greatest show on earth" playing a part.

The imposing cast includes Chester Conklin, Ben Turpin, Dorothy Burgess, Bryant Washburn, George Fawcett, Helen Twelvetrees, Stepin Fetchit, Daphne Pollard, Robert Edeson, Fred Scott, John Sheehan, Mickey Bennett and Fred Langan.

Joseph Santley directed "Swing High" and he wrote the story in conjunction with James Seymour. E. B. Derr was the producer.

AT THE DELFT

"The Life of the Party," latest Warner Brothers and Vitaphone production in natural color is the attraction at the Delft theatre today.

Winnie Lightner, that dynamo of energy, is once again seen in the type of role for which she is famous, that of a smart-cracking gold digger—this time in Havana.

Though Miss Lightner is probably the greatest of all screen gold diggers, her success along that line of endeavor in "The Life of the Party" causes her doom, temporarily at least.

Roy Del Ruth directed.

Ferry Business Grows

St. Ignace.—Estimates that the umber of deer hunters in the pper peninsula last month ex- eeded the number recorded for 1929 are supported by the Nov- ember report on operations of the tate automobile ferries at the Straits of Machinac.

Last month the ferries transported 14,812 vehicles, including ars, busses, trucks and trailers, compared to a total of 14,506 in November 1929. Last month the erries carried 22,319 passengers, compared to 21,874 for November, 1929.

Receipts from the operation of he ferries last month aggregated 4[illegible]22.75, an increase of about 700 over the November receipts ast year, which amounted to $42,030.

Receipts for the season of 1930 o December 1 are reported as $386,297.25, compared with $389,736.75 for the season to December 1 in 1929, a reduction of about $3,500.

Lumberman Dies

Sidnaw.—Al. Smith, pioneer resident of Sidnaw, died Saturday evening at a Marquette hospital. Mr. Smith became ill at his work at what is known as Camp 4, a Ford camp, while employed as a fireman. He continued to work until Thursday evening, when he was brought home. His condition did not improve and he was taken to the hospital for an operation, Saturday morning. His wife, Mrs. Mary Smith, of Sidnaw and their son, Leonard, of Lynn, Ohio, were at his bedside when the end came.

Mr. Smith was born in Hamford, Nordland, Sweden, 60 years ago. He came to this country 42 years ago. About 30 years ago, he came to Kenton from the lower peninsula, where he had been employed as a railroad engineer for a logging concern. Since coming here he had worked in that capacity for various concerns, in and about Kenton, Trout Creek, Calderwood, Bergland, and Sidnaw. Several years ago, he built a home in Sidnaw, and operated an oil station in the west end of the village. He was an active citizen, taking part in many community activities. For the last 10 years he had served the township as a justice of the peace. He was a member of the Odd Fellows.

His widow, son, Leonard, and a brother of Cadillac, survive. The funeral, in charge of the Sidnaw lodge of Odd Fellows, was held Tuesday afternoon.

NEW CHARITY GROUP FOUNDED

"Goodfellows" Club Is Organized to Help Newberry Poor

Newberry, Dec. 18 (Special)—The "Goodfellows" have been organized in Luce county. At a meeting held a few nights ago nearly thirty local business and professional men got together in the community building and, with great enthusiasm, elected officers, appointed committees and raised a good sized fund with which to start the project which has for its object: A Christmas stocking for every child in the county.

Such a movement has been brewing for some time. Local men had found it necessary to pick a little shivering child off the street once in a while and furnish shoes or coat or mittens. Teachers were reporting cases of need from their rooms. The United Service was finding its services required to a larger extent than they were able to render. Conditions here are perhaps a little better than in most places and yet it was becoming plain that the little extra for Christmas which means so much to a child, would not be possible for many of the homes.

So the meeting was called. A. L. Sayles was elected general chairman with J. P. Rahilly as secretary-treasurer and a fund of several hundred dollars was at once put at their disposal. An executive committee composed of John Turnbull, chairman, Andrew Westin and C. L. Bystrom, are to manage the affairs of the club and to present the needs of the community as they arise. Also a "fact-finding" committee was appointed. This is comprised of Herman Kunert, S. C. Sleeper and C. L. Bystrom. These gentlemen are already busy visiting throughout the county to find just what and where the need is to be found. A. L. Newmark is fund chairman and Miss Margaret Shilson, county nurse and Miss Esther Ojala, principal of the grade school, are both honorary members of the organization. A close cooperation with these ladies and with other school officials will be maintained.

A card record of all possible needy cases is being made. It is believed that around three hundred children will be listed as deserving attention. It is understood that the grown-ups of the familes are not to be considered at all. The "goodfellows" exists for the children alone. The list of membership is wide open, the only membership requirement is a donation.

One of the delightful episodes was when someone suggested that members of the Hi-Y club might be called upon to deliver the packages and a cry arose: "I should say not. We'll do that ourselves!"

Year round operation is the aim of the "Goodfellows." It is planned to have a permanent fund and a continued service to the community by this organization. There will be no overlapping of the various organizations now functioning in the community. The United Service, a committee appointed from the churches and clubs of the town will continue to furnish used clothing and look after special family needs. The health organization and the Tuberculosis association will continue to serve as they have n the past and a close cooperation between these will make it possible to give the community a better service than ever. Transients and drifters are giving a special problem here as elsewhere. These cases will be carefully investigated and each one decided on its merits.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

One of the most artistic programs ever given in this locality was presented on Wednesday night in the high school auditorium by the girls' glee club under the direction of Arthur Neu and a group of students under George Saip. Seven carols were sung by the girls without piano accompaniment. Remarkable talent is present in the club this year and Mr. Neu has developed a smoothness and clearness of tone delightful to music lovers. The program consisted of "The First Noel," the "Coventry Carol" in both first and second settings, the "Wasail Song," "The Babe in Bethle'm's Manger" and "We Three Kings of Orient Are." Lorna Barrett sang the solo in the second "Coventry Carol." Three solos in the last number were given by Margaret Gormely, Beatrice Labron and Alice Labron.

"The First Gift" was the title of the play given as the last half of the program. An old man sits in his comfortable room in the late afternoon of the day before Christmas. He hears carollers singing on the streets. He falls asleep and dreams of a scene in which Damon, the inkeeper and Rachel his wife, who keep the inn where Mary and Joseph come seeking refuge from the cold and dark.

They had decided to give their own room to the poor strangers when Flaccus, a Roman official rushes in and demands it for a great general. The strangers are sent to the stable although Rachel protests bitterly. A pageant of the Nativity scene is shown through an opening in the wall, the voices of heavenly singing comes faintly. Rachel gives the money she had received for the general's room to the little new baby but greatest of all is the gift of her love. The old man awakens. It is evening. He lights a candle at his window to welcome all strangers in the name of the Prince of Peace. Florence Johnson plays Rachel, Francis Jacobson has the part of Damon and Leo Johnson is Flaccus.

FAMOUS HOBO HERE

Joseph Leon Laraowitz, signing himself from Brooklyn, N. Y., paid Newberry a visit on Wednesday. This young man, known all over the country as "king of the hobos," arrived in town on Tuesday evening and put up at the Murphy house, leaving again during the next afternoon. He has been receiving considerable newspaper attention during the past few weeks and is on his way to Spokane, Wash.

WARDENS MEET

Richard Beech left on Wednesday to attend the annual conference of the assistant wardens of the state, now being held in Marquette. Men who serve as second in command in each of the fifteen conservation districts in the state will be present to discuss plans for another season and to listen to talks on their many problems. H. R. Sayre, chief fire warden, is in charge of the meeting.

Christmas and the Birds.

It is said that no peasant in Sweden will sit down with his children to Christmas dinner until he has provided food for the birds. The farmers erect poles in their dooryards to which sheafs of grain are bound, to provide for birds through the season when vegetation is covered with snow and ice.

Leslie Caswell, Jr., and Milton Bergman, students at Michigan State college, East Lansing, will arrive today to spend their Christmas vacations at their homes here.

Miss Beth Olson of Chicago will arrive in a few days to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Olson.

Raymond Carlson has returned to his home from the hospital at Escanaba. Raymond was one of the victims of a deer hunting accident.

Mrs. Walter Busch who has been seriously ill for the past week, is convalescing nicely now, and is considered to be out of danger.

Mrs. Arnold J. Kirch and three children have returned to Ann Arbor to spend the remainder of the college year with their husband and father who is a student at the University of Michigan.

The Bidding

At either auction or contract, South, the dealer, would open with four spades. If you are going to pre-empt, endeavor to pre-empt high enough to accomplish the purpose, which is to shut out your opponents. West would then pass, North would pass. The East hand, though, is strong enough to go five hearts. This should close the contracting.

Although West's hand does contain an ace and a king, queen, it must be remembered that East was forced to bid the five hearts, and it would be a very bold declaration to go to six hearts, although one table in a recent duplicate match did take the contract to six.

The Play

South opens the king of spades, the top of his long spade suit. It looks as if the declarer must lose one spade trick and one club, but the declarer does not become discouraged, and wins the first trick with the ace. Three rounds of trump are taken which picks up all of North's trump. Declarer should now use the well-known strip play and take three rounds of diamonds, stripping the dummy hand of diamonds. It is quite apparent to the declarer that South should hold the king of clubs to justify his pre-emptive bid of four spades, therefore the declarer now leads his three of spades, throwing South in the lead.

If South were to lead another spade, declarer would trump in dummy and discard his losing club from his own hand. If South leads the jack of clubs, the declarer will allow it to ride to his queen and cash the ace of clubs in dummy, thereby completing his contract if six hearts

JUST A DOLL

Do you realize that just a cheap little doll will make Christmas a happy one for many a poor little girl, who won't find much in her Christmas stocking. Surely, you will want to help bring Christmas cheer to every home in this community this year.

All-Collegiate Holiday Dance On December 26

The most important Christmas reunion of students and townspeople and their holiday guests, and one of the most festive of the numerous functions planned for the busy season, will be the All-Collegiate holiday dance, which will be given at the Coliseum the evening of Friday, December 26, by the University of Michigan Alumni club.

The party is open to everyone, and it is expected that it will be the largest gathering of the holidays.

Not only will it be an enjoyable social affair, but it is being given with a most worth-while object in view—that of raising funds for the Universtiy of Michigan Alumni scholarship which is awarded to a student of Escanaba high school each year.

Two orchestras will play the dance program, Johnson's Dance Kings of Iron Mountain and Johnson's Wolverines of this city.

Charles Gessner, Chairman

Arrangements for the party are in charge of a committee of which Charles Gessner is chairman, and Attorney Torval E. Strom and Guy Sullivan, associate members.

SANTA CLAUS MAIL BOX

A letter that is not addressed to Santa Claus but one that should receivce his attention from some Goodfellow comes from an aged couple living near Bark River. The letter follows:

"Dear friends:—We would very much enjoy a Christmas basket, as my husband is an invalid and we are old and very lonely in our little home. From a friend, Mrs. Fred Holmer, Bark River, Mich. Route One."

1201 Ludington,
Escanaba, Mich.

Dear Santa Claus:

I have been a good boy all year so I want you to bring me a lectric train and a wheel barrow and courduroy pants with laces. Not a big seat like you Santa Claus. I am a little boy, size 6. Bring me a little red shirt, too, with bottons, size 6.

It's Buddie's writing. I am in the first grade and I haven't learned to write very well yet.

Your loving friend,
Arthur Bourdlais.

P. S. I want red buttons on the shirt.

Dear Santa:

This letter my sister is writing for me and my little sister. I am 6 years old and my little sister is 3 and baby is 6 months, and my Daddy says old Santa is not coming to my house because he has been out of work for a long time. But I'm sure you will come anyway. I want you to bring me a pair of slippers, size 12, and a pair over shoes to fit shoes, a nice pretty dolly and dishes. My sister needs slippers too, size 10, but I need them worse for I must go to school and without them when a little more snow comes I must stay home from school. Please Santa don't forget me.

My baby sister need some stockings size 4½ and a rattle.

So now Santa come and bring me my presents I wil be so glad.

Your little Friends,
Edith and Delores Anderson,
1522 Stev. Ave., Escanaba Mich

Escanaba, Mich.
Dec. 16, 1930.

Dear Santa,

I am writing to ask you if you have anything to spare this Christmas if you'll please visit our house. Our daddy hasn't worked for 3 months so anything you send will sure be welcome.

Billy and Muriel and Patricia Ann Roman, 1605 16th Ave.,

Rapid River, Michigan.
Dec. 17, 1930

Dear Santa Claus,

I am a little boy 7 years old. I am in the second Grade. I would like for you to bring me a pair of skee skates for we are going to have skateing parties at school. And I would like to have a muffler for it is growing cold. We have about a ½ mile to walk to school. I will close now for it is growing late. Good Bye. A Merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Peter Picord.

Rapid River, Mich.
Dec. 17, 1930.

Dear Santa Claus,

I am a little girl 8 years old. I am in the third grade. I would like for you to bring me a pair of skee skates for we are going to have skateing parties at school. And I would like to have a scarf for it is growing cold. We have about a ¼ mile to walk to school. I would like to have a game of old maid cards. I will close now for it is growing late. Good Bye. A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Lili Picord.

St. Jacques, Mich.
Dec. 17, 1930.

Dear Santa Claus:

How are you? Well I hope. I would like to have a set of dishes and a fountain pen for Christmas. I would be very glad to get them. Maybe I will go and see you. I hope soon. Thank you very much. Goodby and love, Delores LaViolette, 10 years old.

Dear santa Claus

How are you? My father been out of work for a year. Mother said you would Not be able to visit us. But let's supprise her. Will be glad of what you think best to bring. Your little Friend, Norine Mercede Dewey, Route 2, Bark River, Mich.

Hermansville, Mich.
Dec. 18, 1930.

Dear Santa Claus,

When you come here would like you to bring me a new doll, some books, new shoes, clothes for my doll. If you think this is too much for one little girl you can cut my list, but would certainly like to have it all.

Your friend,
Shirley Harrington.

Choir Will Present Christmas Cantata

"The Manger Prince," by Charles N. Gabriel, a cantata, will be sung by the choir of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church, the evening of Sunday, December 28, at the church. The cantata is a beautiful composition telling the age-old story of the birth of Christ and of His mission in the world. The complete choir which is of thirty voices, and members of which are accomplished singers, well known here, will sing

Library Giving Annual Party For Children

The Carnegie Public Library's annual Christmas party for the children of the city will be held Saturday morning beginning at 10 o'clock at the library hall.

The party, which is being held each year during the holiday season, is for all children of the city under the age of twelve years, and they are all invited to attend.

The program of the party, announced Thursday by Miss Margaret Pease, librarian, will include songs by Miss Alta Trombley, the telling of Christmas stories by Miss Katherine O'Brien, the singing of Christmas carols by Mrs. Mary Cobb Farrell's troop of Girl Scouts, and, then a visit from Santa Claus, himself.

The time, boys and girls are asked to remember, is 10 o'clock the regular Saturday morning story hour time.

Christmas Recipes

Steamed Christmas Pudding

1½ cups sugar.
1½ cups flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
1½ teaspoons salt.
1½ teaspoons soda.
2 teaspoons cinnamon.
1 teaspoon cloves.
1 teaspoon nutmeg.
1 cup grated or finely chopped carrots.
1 cup chopped or grated raw potatoes.
1½ cup raisins.
1½ cups currants.

Mix all ingredients and pour into 4 one-pound baking powder cans. Seal tightly and steam for 2 hours. There will be sufficient pudding to serve 12 persons and it can be made several days prior to serving and then reheated in the cans 20 minutes before served.

Date Pudding

2 cups sugar.
2-3 cup flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 cups dates.
1 cup nuts.
4 eggs, well beaten.
2 tablespoons milk.

Mix all ingredients. Pour into buttered pan. Set in pan of hot water and bake 40 minutes in moderate oven. Unmold, cut in cubes.

Relish Salad

1 package lemon flavored gelatin mixture.
1 2-3 cups boiling water.
1-3 cup sugar.
1-3 cup vinegar.
2 cups chopped cabbage.
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles.
1-3 cup chopped pimientos stuffed olives.

Pour the boiling water over the gelatin mixture and stir until it has dissolved. Add the sugar and vinegar. Mix well and cool. Add rest of ingredients and pour into a mold. Chill until stiff, unmold on lettuce and surround with salad dressing.

Cranberry Jelly

6 cups berries.
3 cups water.
3 cups sugar.

Wash berries and look them over carefully. Add the water. Cover and cook slowly until the berries are very soft. Mash through coarse strainer. Add the sugar and boil gently five minutes. Pour into mold and chill until stiff.

Chocolate Frosting

4 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons hot cream.
1½ squares chocolate, melted.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1-8 teaspoon salt.
1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar.

Mix the butter, cream and chocolate and heat slowly. When chocolate has melted, add rest of ingredients. Beat until creamy and stiff.

Christmas Tree Dessert

8 2-inch squares chocolate cake
Chocolate frosting.
1 quart vanilla ice cream.
½ cup tiny candies (gum drops).

Spread the cake squares with chocolate frosting. Top each "box" with a cone shape of ice cream. Sprinkle candies over the top. Insert tiny tapers and just before serving light the tapers. This serves eight.

Don't wait until your rugs spring a hole to mend them. Mending tissue put on the back before a hole is worn through will be tremendously efficacious. Or a patch, worked on in the colors of the rug.

Mix it with meat or vegetables-

Surprise Party

Miss Tillie Seward was the guest of honor at a pleasant surprise party given Tuesday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall, and arranged on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

Fifty friends were present for the affair, meeting at the hall, and greeting Mrs. Seward as she entered the dining room.

An evening of social diversions was enjoyed and a delicious lunch was served. The honor guest was presented with a number of lovely gifts, among them a bridge lamp.

Noel Is Tableau Theme At School

The Living Crib, an annual affair at St. Joseph's high school, will be carried out in a very elaborate manner this year. The stage has been arranged to represent a small section of the little town of Bethlehem; choirs of angels are brushing up their wings, ready to attend. The shepherds are planning on coming and the kings with their attendants are on the way. It will be a grand ensemble. Their costumes are colorful and the very telling of the preparation always brings joy to the heart of each child.

The Student Council will be very helpful in stage appointment. The Science Club is the committee in charge of lighting effects.

Spiritual Fete at St. Joseph School Sunday Afternoon

Rev. Father Louis Bertrand, superintendent of St. Joseph's school, the faculty, the Parent-Teacher Association, and the Mothers' Club have all united to bring gladness and Christmas joy to every child in St. Joseph school for at least two hours on Sunday afternoon.

Candy, peanuts, popcorn, gifts galore, will be distributed. It is to be a regular Christmas typosium. Every classroom in the building has assumed a Christmas atmosphere. The art class, the music department, public speaking, and literature classes have all lent their energies to enliven the Christmas spirit.

The story of Christmas has been told in legend, in song, in poetry, in picture, and on Sunday it will culminate in the great spiritual pageant—"Noel."

Church services will be at 2:30 o'clock. At 3 o'clock parents and friends of the children will assemble in the auditorium to attend a program prepared by the pupils of the school. After the program, Santa Claus will visit every home room and scatter joy and pleasure as he dances his way through the building. The pupils have prepared a little gift for their parents which they will present at the time. The Girl Scout troop will take part.

Food and clothing have been collected to take care of any poor who may be in need. A large collection of toys and clothing will be sent to Marquette Orphanage. The doll hospital is a very busy place. Crippled toys of every shape and size have been assembled ready to transport to the fire department.

All are striving to make this affair a real Christmas treat for all.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Is the Universe, including Man, evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, Dec. 21.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind." (Isa. 65:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Undisturbed amid the jarring testimony of the material senses, Science, still enthoned, is unfolding to mortal the immutable, harmonious, divine Principle—is unfolding Life and the universe, ever present and eternal." Glorifying Yourself

By Alicia Hart

Crow's feet, those fine lin etched at the corners of the eye need not necessarily mean a Often they come as a re neglect. To prevent them surest cure for them!

However, when you first notic that there are faint lines runnin out from the corners of your eye redouble your efforts, if you a ready are taking care of you skin.

Remember that dry skins wri kle much more quickly than oi skins. Use plenty of nourishin cream and massage it in well.

In addition to the circular mas sage that you should be givin your eyes for that creepy look u der them, you should plan to ad one more motion to your facia This is to correct crow's feet.

Dip your fingers into a ri nourishing cream and massag the muscles around your eye Then stretch out the skin at th sides of the eyes by planting th thumb of one hand determinedl on the cheek bone and the finger at the temple. When the skin taut, take the fingers of the oth hand and smooth out the crow feet with a firm pressure, working from the corners of the eye up to the forehead. These usua ly are horizontal and should b smoothed up and down, not ou towards the temple.

Along with the care of cr feet comes the smoothing out those vertical lines so many wo men have today between the eyes.

In the first place, make sur you do not need glasses if you no tice the droop lines begin to trac their unpleasant imprint on you forehead. Squinting from bad vision should be corrected.

If it is squinting from worry o an unpleasant frame of mind, it a psychological thing and fo beauty's sake you should correc it. Try to remember to keep pleasant expression on your face

There are certain remedie which help, however. First of al use plenty of rich nourishin cream on this portion of the face Second, give it special massage This consists of both hands on th cheek bones, the first fingers o the top of the forehead and wit the second fingers smoothing ou the portion between the eye cross-wise, from one side to an other.

LOCAL OWNERS BREAKING LAW?

State Requires Permit On All Oil Burner Installations

Without knowing it, a number of Escanaba people have been violating the state law in the installation and use of oil burners for heating plants, violations which make the owner liable to a fine up to $100 or imprisonment in the county jail.

Under state regulations covering the oil burner plants, it is required that application for an installation permit first be secured. These applications may be obtained from Fire Chief Arvid Johnson. Then a permit is issued by the state fire marshall's office at Lansing, and a tag is attached to the filler pipe or tank. Inspection of the device must be made again after the installation is completed, and a tag showing that this inspection has been made is attached to the tank. The regulations provide further that no person, firm or corporation may supply fuel oil for tanks or storage containers on the burners until the plant is approved as specified in the state regulations.

Dampers Prohibited

Chief Johnson finds that a few oil burners have been installed in Escanaba without securing the state permits, and he is calling attention to the following extracts from the fire marshall's code as a warning to local residents who have installed oil burners or are planning to install one:

Section 3. Before any fuel oil burners, tanks and other equipment pertaining thereto shall be installed within the state of Michigan, the owner of such premises or his agent shall obtain from the state fire marshall's office at Lansing, a permit for the installation of such fuel oil burners and equipment and for the storage and use of fuel oil for the operation thereof. Upon issuing such permit the said department shall issue therewith a temporary tag to be attached to the fill pipe of the tank of such equipment until such equipment is inspected and if found to conform to these regulations, a permanent metal tag properly numbered shall be affixed by the inspector.

Section 4. No person or persons, firms or corporations, shall supply with fuel oil any tanks or containers for fuel oil burners unless such fuel oil burners and equipment shall have been approved as provided herein and permit tag attached to the filler pipe of such tank or containers in the manner herein specified. Provided however, that the owners or occupants of premises on which fuel oil burners have been installed previous to the date on which these regulations become effective, shall have not to exceed six months from such date to obtain a permit under the provisions hereof where such equipment is found safe.

Section 11. No damper or other device shall be permitted in the smoke-pipe or chimney from the device heated that in the opinion of the state fire marshall may restrict to a dangerous extent the passage of fumes or gases. Ventilation shall be provided to prevent the accumulation of any trapped vapors below the combustion chamber. The instruction sheet so posted showing care and operation of the oil-burning equipment shall be posted near the apparatus installed. The instruction sheet so posted shall include the specifications for the gravity and limiting flash of oil suitable for use in the burner: all cards of instructions shall be posted at time of installation. Near the entrance of the furnace room, and so located as to be convenient for use in emergency, there shall be provided an approved fire extinguisher.

Section 19. A violation of these regulations is hereby declared to constitute a nuisance and any person, firm, board or corporation violating such regulations shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

RADIO STATION AT MARQUETTE

Peninsula Broadcasting Will Start Within Sixty Days

Marquette's radio broadcasting station will make its debut on the air within sixty days, according to the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, the organization largely instrumental in securing a permit and air channel from the federal radio commission this week.

The location of the station studio and the transmitting sttaion will be announced within a short time, according to the chamber of commerce. It is believed that a downtown studio will be provided.

Plans to secure a permit from the federal radio commission were launched last May when a conference with a regionel executive was held and a survey of the radio situation in Marquette made. The application was then made and has since been before the commission. A final hearing was held several weeks ago at Washington when a representative of the Marquette Chamber appeared and gave testimony relative to the needs of a broadcasting station in this part of the country. Scores of letters from prominent business and professional men and clergy were presented to the commission.

The program of the Marquette station will feature broadcasts of church services Sunday mornings, an organ hour in the afternoon and concert numbers Sunday evenings. The week-day schedule will call for noon broadcasting, also late afternoon and early evening musical programs, time signals, news readings, etc.

Michigan Problems 80 Years Ago Much the Same as They Are Now

(NOTE—This is the first of a series of historical stories of Michigan Legislature.)

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 18. (AP)—Over a gap of more than eighty years, between the first legislature convened in Lansing and the one which will assemble here January 7, many basic problems have remained the same.

Highways, taxation, mounting taxes and governmental expenses, increased facilities for caring for state wards and the enlargement of governmental capacity to handle the needs ofa state which has never stopped growing are problems that have been with all legislatures. Then, it was a question of providing planked highways stretching a few miles through the woods. Now, it is concrete trunk lines costing millions. Taxes then were thousands where they are millions now. There was grave discussion as to whether the state would ever be sufficiently in need of such institutions as "an asylum for the insane and an institution for the deaf, dumb and blind."

The first governor to be inaugurated in the old wooden capitol at Lansing was Epaphroditus Ransom of Kalamazoo. He was elected in 1847 and inducted into office in 1848. During the first legislature of his administration he came out strongly in favor of "plank roads." As a result the session teemed with highway activity. Great grants of "internal improvement lands" were made for the improvement and building of roads. The new governor made an earnest effort to provide passable wagon roads between the main centers of population. He signed fifty or more legislative bills giving franchises to Plank Road Companies. At least six of these concerns offered Lansing as the terminus of their plank arteries, stretching from the capital to Battle Creek, Ann Arbor, Dexter, Jackson, Portland and Mason.

The same progressive legislature sponsored the constitutional change providing for the election of justices of the supreme court, the auditor general, the attorney general, the secretary of state, the state treasurer, the superintendent of public instruction and county prosecuting attorneys. All previously had been appointed or chosen by the legislature.

The legislature of 1849, under the same governor, pushed farther into the realm of institutional development and sonstitutional revision. A state normal college was established, and a resolution was adopted which led to the constitutional revision of 1850.

NORMAL BUYING

Then Unemployment Will Take Care of Itself

A man decides to make letter carrying his life work. He marries, raises a family, assured that people will go on exchanging letters as they always have.

A physician spends 8 years in special preparation for his life work, confident that people will be themselves by having at somewhat regular intervals broken bones, fever and babies.

Normal conduct is the underlying assumption of the present civilization.

In line with that, 501,000 men and women have made it their life business to produce the wearing apparel adequate to meet, what time has shown to be, the normal apparel needs of the American people. The basis for the selection of their occupation was the same as that of the postman, the physician or anybody else. Yet 100,000 of the clothing workers are out of employment. And failing to get their regular pay, they are unable to spend it. This has cut down the demand for many other products.

Why?

In very large part because some people with sustained incomes are not buying normally.

TODAY, go to your favorite store and purchase the clothes you should be buying. By doing so you will be helping unemployed back to their jobs, and thus will stimulate the demand for the products of your own industry.

TRAPS ARE SET FOR CORN PEST

Campaign Against Borer in Michigan Develops A New Device

BY SAM B. McCOOL

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)— The latest scheme to rid Michigan of the European corn borer, or at least to control its ravages, has turned to the planting of corn traps for the pest.

Experiments at the Monroe corn borer experiment station of Michigan State College indicate the trap offers hope for partial solution of the problem. Experiments have been so successful that A. R. Marston, superintendent of the Monroe station, announces they will be continued.

A decision to make use of strips of corn as a trap for the borers followed previous experimental work which gave conclusive evidence that corn planted early in the season offered greater attraction for the pest and became more infested than that planted later in the year. Trap strips were planted two weeks earlier than the main crop.

Harvested Early

Two kinds of strip traps were used. Duncan corn was drilled in an eight-rowed strip across the ends of one fied, while a similar strip was drilled around another field with the main crop of corn inside the trap strips.

Corn planted completely around the main crop showed the best results as a trap for borers. This trap strip carried a much heavier infestation than the main field. No difference in infestation resulted when part of the main crop was planted two weeks later in the use of a trap drilled across the end of the field.

When trap strips of corn are planted, the most heavily infested strips should be harvested just before maturity and put in a silo inorder that the borers may be destroyed. If the proper dispisition is not made of the trap corn, infestation in the field may increase rather than decline.

Marston also announces that late planting of corn as a means of borer control is impracticable in view of the declining yields with the tardy planting. Planting between May 12 and May 25 has given the highest yields regardless of infestation. June planting has reduced the borer population, but has brought pood yields and immature corn.

Harvesting of the corn crop, Marston continues, as soon as it matures partially avoids loss from breakage of the stalks due to the borers. Close cutting of the crop also is advised.

Farm machinery properly used will destroy borers. Marston learned in experiments at the station. The husker-shredder destroyed 99 per cent of all borers in the corn fodder put through the machine. All borers were killed when the ensilage cutter was adjusted so that the fodder was cut less than one inch in length. A roughage mill also killed the pest.

Topping of corn shortly after pollinization is not recommended as a control measure. Although it reduces the borer population, it also cuts the yield.

Bugs Don't Bother Large Lemon Grove

It's the home of a 750-acre grove of lemon trees, called the world's largest, that produces upwards of 150 carloads of fruit a year.

The orchard is 18 years old, but it never has been sprayed. Absence of insect pests is attributed to extremely hot summer weather and low temperature in winter.

Upper Peninsula's County Agents to Meet Jan. 7 and 8

The annual meeting of Upper Peninsula county agents has been called for Wednesday and Thursday, January 7 and 8, at Marquette, by J. G. Wells, Jr., county agent leader for the Upper Peninsula. The sessions will meet in the Marquette county courthouse.

Topics for discussion will include the formation of a 1931 agricultural program for the Upper Peninsula by state college extension and field forces.

FARM HINTS

Soil surveys taken by the U. S. Department of Agirculture and its field agents are proving valuable to farmers. Maps compiled from results have aided in the regulation of crops in various parts of the country and in application of correct fertilizer on wanting soils.

The ideal farm community, in the opinion of Dr. C. J. Galpin, sociologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is composed of 1000 rural families. This number is necessary, he believes, to adequately maintain and support rural schools, libraries, hospitals, parks, playgrounds, churches, fire companies and the like.

Stockmen, dairymen, feeders, butchers, packers, hide dealers, tanners and manufacturers of leather goods lose from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually as a result of the ravages of the grub, or heel fly, in cattle.

Government development of the Columbia river irrigation project, taking water to lands along the river basin, has resulted in the reclamation of more than 4,000,000 acres of desert land, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The little red schoolhouses of rural districts "can and must become the key to unlock the door of economic and social security and stability in the agricultural industry," according to C. C. Teague, of the Federal Farm Board. He believes co-operation and modern farming is the one big solution to "farm relief" of the future.

Save home-grown seed for 1931. That's Dr. C. W. Warburton's advice to farmers. Warburton, chairman of the federal drought-relief committee, explains that crop standardization work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and experiment stations has produced varieties and strains that cannot be replaced if they are lost.

The weevil damage in pecan groves down south is being reduced by encouraging such birds as the tufted titmouse, the crested flycatcher, the purple martin and the bluebird to make their homes there. The U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests that nest boxes be provided for these birds.

Farmers in Virginia saved between $750,000 and $1,000,000 in feed shipments due to freight rate reduction secured by the federal drought relief committee.

Limestone Pays $15 for $2

Urbana, Ill. (AP)—Every $2 invested in a ton of limestone for acid soil will return $15 or more in crop yields, says O. M. Linsley, soils extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Canada May Raise More Pork

Toronto (AP)—Great increase in pork production in Canada is predicted by Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, as a result of the declining value of wheat as a cash crop.

Paris has a craze for boxing matches.

Thousands of Turkeys Awaiting Ax On Ranch of Former Dirt Farmers

Mr. Gobbler is all puffed up over his coming importance during the holidays. But Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baker, inset, of Tiffany, Colo., are getting the ax ready.

Tiffany, Colo.—The habit of the American public of eating turkey on Thanksgiving and Christmas has made a fortune for Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baker, of this city. They run one of the largest turkey farms in the country—the San Juan Basin turkey ranch.

Back in 1917 Mr. and Mrs. Baker were just dirt farmers. They came to Tiffany and, like the rest of the inhabitants, planted corn, beans, wheat and other crops. Irrigation was necessary, the soil was poor, freight rates consumed the small margin of profit and none of the farmers in the section were prospering.

Seeking something to increase his profits, Baker took to livestock and built up a choice drove of Poland China sows. His wife, in an effort to improve the family income, tried poultry. She soon found, however, that chickens had to be shipped to distant markets and that the shipping charges ate up the profits.

Twenty-Three Birds at Start

In the spring of 1920 she started raising turkeys. That season she had 13 pullets and 10 Toms. The next year her turkeys increased. By 1923 she had 400 hens which hatched 2300 young birds, and she was able to ship 9000 eggs to states all over the country. These eggs brought her a profit of $2300.

In the meantime, Baker's sows were increasing, too. But a check of books showed that it cost more to keep the sows than it did turkeys. In one year his hogs consumed $400 worth of grain, while his wife's turkeys ate less than $100 worth. So he sold his hogs and entered the turkey raising business with his wife.

For the last seven years 2500 to 3000 birds have been matured for market annually on their turkey ranch in addition to breeding stock. Other farmers watched their enterprise and were converted to turkey raising.

Form Marketing Club

Baker worked hard to form a co-operative marketing association. It was finally organized in 1928 and now has 60 members. Last year members sold 60,000 birds for about $260,000. The association receives five cents more a pound than individual raisers. Ten days before Thanksgiving and Christmas bids on the pooled turkeys are opened. The successful bidder supervises the grading done by local men at the loading station.

The association is governed by a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, and business is transacted by three elective directors.

Develop Ranging System

One reason for the remarkable success of the Bakers in turkey raising is the ranging system they developed. In their early days in the business, they followed everyone's advice that turkeys could not be confined.

They ranged their birds over 320 acres and detailed a herder to protect them from rodents. But they began experimenting with smaller ranges until finally the birds were being raised on just a few acres.

Their young poults, hatched in April and May, are placed in brooder houses warmed by stoves having thermostat heat controls, after their removal from incubators. These houses are heated for about four weeks. Roosts are placed when the poults are about 10 days old. Early roosting prevents crooked breasts and other imperfections in the matured birds.

These brooder houses, 12 feet square, each house 300 birds.

Fourth Tri-State Dairy Day Planned

Preparations are under way for the Fourth annual Tri-State dairy congress which will be held at Duluth in March, 1931. The Duluth Chamber of Commerce will be host to the gathering.

The Tri-State dairy congress was instituted and has been fostered by the Duluth Stock and Dairy Farmer. It has been of great value in fostering the dairy industry in the cutover regions of Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

Michigan now has nine premier dairymen, selected at past Tri-State meetings. Three more from this state will be selected at the forthcoming congress, on the basis of their herd records in cow testing association work.

Wild Indians Now "Tamed" On Farms

By NEA Service

Sault Lake City.—From tomahawk and gay feathers to the plow and farm is the advance taken by Indians in Utah. Today they are planting seeds of civilization and growing crops that rival those of white men.

Each fall when fairs are held in Utah many blue ribbons are captured by the redskins of this section. One of the richest soil sections of the state, Uintah Basin, houses the Uintah and Ouray Indian reservation, and there about 2000 Indians have turned to agriculture on about 15,000 acres of land.

The principal crops grown are alfalfa seed and hay, clover seed, wheat, oats and corn. In addition poultry raising, bee keeping and dairying are carried on extensively.

Less Flood Danger for Coming Spring

Washington (AP)—Farmers this spring may plant crops and pasture herds to the water's edge of big rivers which recently have ruined fields and carried livestock away.

Due to drought, the ground is drier over a large part of the country and most of the large streams are lower than they have been in several decades.

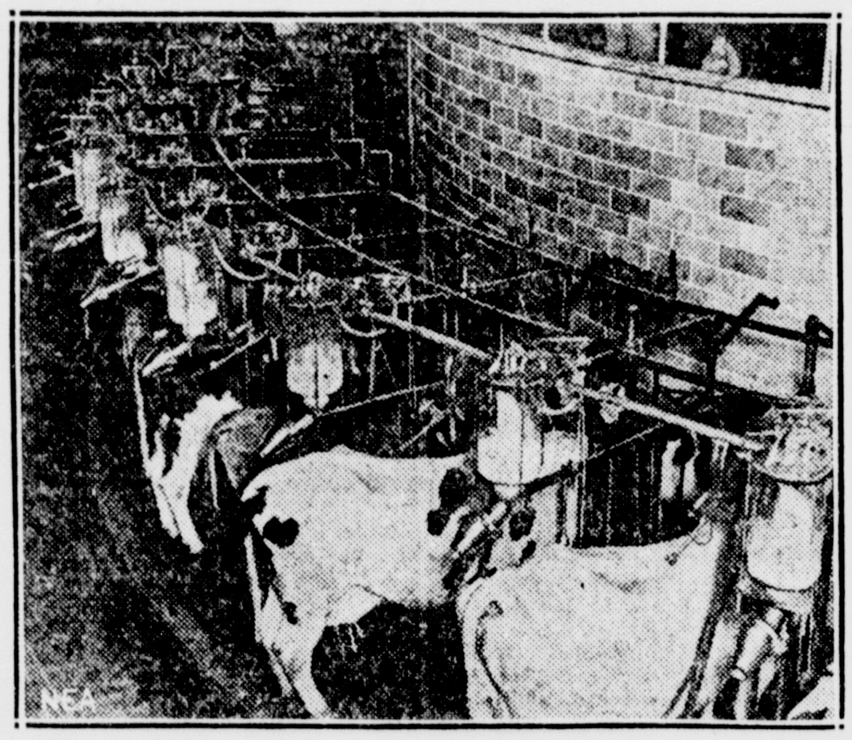
Watersheds of such rivers as the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, James and Savannah can receive considerably more rain than usual without reaching flood stages, government officials say.

Milk Coolers Differ Widely

State College, Pa. (AP)—No two of 38 farmers visited in various parts of the state by Pennsylvania state college engineers had the same type of electric milk refrigerating machine.

Belgium now has the largest railway mileage in proportion to population.

MILKS FIFTY COWS TOGETHER



The pretty milkmaid of days gone by has been given a setback by the Rotolactor, a machine which milks 50 cows simultaneously. Perfected by H. W. Jeffers, at Plainsboro, N. J., it consists of a 60-foot revolving platform on which the 50 cows are arranged. The animals are first bathed and then automatic milkers go to work. A section of the milking stand is shown here. Note how each cow's production can be measured in the glass receiving measures.

Holiday "Goodbye" Turkey Producers Worst Heartache

Alliance, Ohio. (AP)—For the Sam H. Stocktons, turkey raisers, Christmas is just another heartache that comes with producing center pieces for holiday tables.

"The hardest part of turkey raising," says Mrs. Stockton, "is the 'goodbye.' Turkeys demand so much care and individual attention that after nursing a flock of them through a year, even if there are as many as 1,000, a bond of affection is sure to be established—and is isn't broken without some pain."

But there is some solace on the Stockton farms as Christmas nears. Old "Amos 'n' Andy," two veteran toms, will stay on to preside over next year's crop.

The two share an annual grievance against the young toms who rise up every summer to threaten their rule, but always there comes a late fall day which sees the last of their competitors carted away to the chopping block and they are masters for another year.

WORLD WHEAT GROWS

The world wheat crop, according to Canada's Bureau of Statistics, is estimated at 4,470,544,000 bushels this year, as against 4,204,824,000 last year.

Only two deaths from smallpox occurred in North Carolina during 1929.

Pumpkin Lettuce, Goal of Growers

Urbana, Ill. (AP)—To raise heads of lettuce the size of pumpkins is the aim of Charles E. Durst, University of Illinois horticulturist.

Durst believes it possible to produce strains of lettuce that will have greater adaptability to seasons, opening the way for the growing of lettuce in warmer climates.

There are more than 100 cultivated varieties of lettuce, but Durst says that the French variety of Cos lettuce is the only cultivated one which gives evidence of having quantitative factors dominant to those of the wild.

Little Iowa Corn for Sale

Des Moines, Iowa (AP)—Iowa, known as the "tall corn" state, will have little corn to sell outside the state this season, crop reporters say. The small surplus, and prices lower than cost of production are given as reasons.

A cucumber two feet in circumference and 15 inches long, weighing three pounds, five ounces was raised by a Fort Morgan, Colo., farmer.

M'MILLAN GIRL REPORTS TRIP

Luce County 4-H Club Champion Attends Chicago Show

Newberry. (Special) — Miss Cora Rickerd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rickerd, of McMillan, who was selected as county champion of the 4-H clubs writes an interesting letter as a part of her report of the trip which she made to Chicago a short time ago. She attended the national congress of 4-H clubs.

MY TRIP TO CHICAGO

Cora Rickerd

I left home about ten o'clock Saturday morning. On the way to McMillan we got stuck in the snow, so it was a lucky thing we had started early. I purchased a round trip ticket to Chicago and left McMillan on the 1119 train for Marquette. We arrived at Marquette at two o'clock. Mr. Rood met me and took me to his home. At five o'clock we met Miss Bird and four other girls who were going to Chicago. After having supper at a restaurant, we took the six o'clock train and from there went through Powers, where Cecilia La Rue, the girl I was to "bunk" with, and two boys were waiting. We went to bed directly but not to sleep, as sleping on the train in an upper berth was a new experience to both of us.

Arriving in Chicago at seven-thirty Sunday morning, we took a taxi to the Congress Hotel, which was to be our home for the week. As soon as possible after breakfast we went to the La Salle Hotel to register. There we received our book of tickets and badges. After dinner we went to the Field Museum with the rest of the Michigan boys and girls. Here we saw many interesting mounted birds and stuffed animals. Among the animals were buffaloes, Rocky Mountain goats, antelopes and hyenas. We also saw the skeletons of many birds and animals, including an elephant one of whose tusks weighed 93 pounds. We also saw the old Roman cooking stoves and grinding mills, and clothing of Eskimos. After supper we went to services in the Methodist Episcopal church at the Chicago Temple. Here one of the 4-H Club boys greeted us and four others sang. The address was given by Dr. John Thompson. Later we returned to the Congress Hotel.

Monday morning at 8:00 everyone assembled at the La Salle Hotel for instructions. At 8:10 we left the hotel for a special train. At 8:30 we assembled before the Boys and Girls Club bluilding, where he were greeted by B. H. Heide, the manager of the International Livestock Exposition. Here we saw many animals, grains and products of the club members. At 4:30 everyone assembled again in front of the club building, where we took coaches to the plant of Wilson & Company. They gave us an entertainment, and later we had supper as guests of that company. We were entertained there until 8:30, during which time President Hoover spoke to the club members. At 9:00 o'clock all club members paraded into and around the arena of the Livestock Exposition, where the champions were introduced. We then returned to the Hotel.

Tuesday morning all the girls assembled in the lobby of the Hotel La Salle. At 8:15 cabs took us to the Adler Planetorium. At 9:15 Miss Bennett gave us a very interesting demonstration of the moon, sun and stars. At 10:15 we ment to the Art Institute. Here we saw many beautiful statues and pictures. In one room everything was original—even the windows and fireplace, also the statues of a Count and Countess. This was the most beautiful room in the Institute. As we were terribly rushed through these places we didn't have a great deal of time to study the pictures. At 2:30 we were the guests of the Mail Order Company at a luncheon; we also went through their store. At 4:30 we went to Lincoln Park, but we did not have time to visit all of it; we visited just the Floral Department. We then went back to the Congress to prepare for a banquet at the Sherman Hotel. Here we were given another program.

At 9:00 Wednesday morning we went to the Harvester Plant. After breakfast with the boys at the Y. M. C. A., we saw the way they make rope and other farm equipment. Where the crankshafts for tractors are made, we saw huge hammers capable of striking a blow of 10,000 to 12,000 pounds. At noon they served dinner and gave us a program. They had a lovely dining hall here for their employees. Wednesday evening we had supper at the Y. M. C. A. and then went to a recreation party at the ballroom of the Hotel La Salle.

Thursday morning at 8:00 we visited Montgomery Ward & Company's plant. We had breakfast at 8:15. At 10:30 we left by motor coach and special train for the Model Farm, as guests of the Public Service Company of Illinois. It took two hours to get there and two hours to come back as we were only allowed 15 minutes to inspect the Farm. The purpose of the Model Farm is to demonstrate to farmers the use of gas and electric appliances which will minimize labor on the farm. The farm consisted of 80 acres of land, cropped in accordance with the best information available. The buildings are laid out in a very interesting landscape plan, including a comfortable six-room house, stock barns, dairy rooms, offices, poultry house swine barns, and also exhibit hall for the demonstration of electric and gas equipment. It is a demonstration rather than an experimental farm. It is the intention of the Service Company to display only such equipment as can be recommended to the farmers for immediate use.

We had supper early and left at 6 o'clock for home. Soon after leaving Racine, Wisconsin, we went to bed. Next morning we arrived at Marquette about seven o'clock. We had breakfast and went shopping. Then Mr. Rood, the State Club Leader, brought me home in his car.

This trip was certainly a very interesting and worth while one. When you once get interested in the museums and public places, it is hard to leave Chicago. But I don't doubt what every club member was glad to see the good old farm again.

PACKAGE MEAT PLAN FAVORED

Farm Board Members See Doom of the Cutting Block

By FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington. (AP)—A radically new system of merchandising meats is forecast by C. B. Denman, farm board member representing livestock.

Essentially, Denman says, packaging and preserving materials will replace the cutting block and the hang rail. All cuts of meat, he predicts, will be prepared at packing plants and passed to the retailer for distribution over the counter the same as a can of peas or a loaf of bread.

There is opposition to the change among those interested in the great distribution processes for fresh meats. Thousands employed as meat cutters would follow the trail of the old "butcher shop."

Says Many To Benefit

Denman says there is prospect for more money for the producer and more meat for the consumer in the picture and that, if true, the change will come for the greater good of the greater number.

The board member sees current reduced purchasing power an impelling factor. Meat is being processed at lower costs than ever before, but the gain has been lost in increased merchandising and selling costs.

The trade says plant efficiency has about reached the limit. There is little hope of increasing prices to the consumer, so the answer must be found in a new system of merchandising.

Package Trade Heavy

Development of quick freezing processes which leave meat in its exact fresh state, and development of more economical storage refrigeration are counted on to accelerate the new move.

A big packing company reports an increased sales volume since it has put on the market a combination package in which pork sausage may be passed to the consumer in whatever quantity desired.

The next move, Denman says, will be for packers to sell steaks, chops, roasts and other cues in similar fashion.

FOREST FIRES FOILED

Forest rangers in the U. S. government succeeded in cutting the acreage burned in national forests 81 per cent during the first three-quarters of 1930. This is in comparison with 1929, when 978,107 acres were destroyed.

BUTTER PRODUCTION

Butter production in the United States in 1929 aggregated 1,587,027,000 pounds, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Gas Plant Proposed

Iron River.—The city commission has again been asked whether it desires to grant a franchise for the installation of an artificial gas utility.

The query comes from the W. N. Albertson and company, Inc., of Milwaukee. The commission, meeting last night, deferred a reply until such time as it is determined whether the company "means business". City Manager Youngs was requested to ascertain its standing.

The city voted a franchise for a gas plant last year, but the company that sought it failed to go ahead with its plans.

The Albertson company inquired whether the city would grant a franchise for the installation of an artificial gas plant with the provision that whenever natural gas could be made available that it could be supplied.

The rates proposed are in accord with those in effect in other cities the size of Iron River.

Much Pipe Removed

Iron Mountain.—Approximately 1,200 feet of the 10,000-foot stretch of abandoned, 16-inch water line extending from the new filteration plant to the city's former pumping station, along the north shore of Lake Antoine, had been reclaimed up to the close of work last night, with 15 workers employed outside of the regular city crew, according to the report today of H. L. Senseman, city engineer.

The crew now at work is the second group of 15 which is employed on this project, begun more than a week ago as part of the city's program for the partial relief of the unemployment situation. The two crews work three days on and off, and the first group will resume the job tomorrow morning—or at the start of the seventh working day.

Wins High Honors

Menominee. — Miss Katherine Kasmarek, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kasmarek of Martha avenue, winner of the Menominee high school oratorical contests in 1929 and 1930, and also winner of the state contest in 1930, has been adjudged the winner in the Freshman oratorical contest at St. Theresa's College in Winona, Minn. Miss Kasmarek was chosen the winner from 130 Freshmen who took part, and is now to compete in the all school contest. She gave the same oration which won honor for her here, "Nationalism and World Peace."

Since entering this school in the fall, Miss Kasmarek has taken leading parts in two of the Freshmen plays.

Marquette.—After a lengthy discussion of the advisability of discontinuing the payment of bounties on predatory animals killed in Marquette county, the board of supervisors yesterday voted in favor of continuing the plan until the appropriation for bounties is exhausted.

The subject of dropping the bounty system was broached by Myron J. Sherwood, of Marquette, who was in favor of discontinuing it on and after January 10. Seven or eight supervisors including the chairman, F. E. Keese, of Ishpeming, came to the support of the bounty plan, all voicing the same reason—an aid to unemployed in the county. Mr. Sherwood proposed that the county stop paying bounties on wolves, coyotes and lynx, and that the state meet the expense.

H. WEBER LEADS ELK BOWLERS

Has 172 Average; Rexalls Top League With Perfect Percentage

The Elks bowling league has just completed its third week of the schedule and the Rexalls are perched at the head of the list with nine straight wins. Crawford's Bear Cats are right on the Rexall's trail with two games to the rear, with Prine's Brown one game following. Crowe's Yanks are in the fourth place with five wins to their credit.

Pins were smacked with a resounding crash during the past week, the Browns piling up a total of 924 pins without any handicap. Christensen's Lions cracked them for 880, and quite a number of other teams registered totals well above the 800 mark.

Genial John Hockstad gave himself a surprise with a count of 245. Amos chalked up 219, and Dan Perry countered with an average of 181 for the week, which was high, and George Graphos checked in second high average with his 179.

Heinie Weber, last year's individual champion is leading the pack with an average of 172 for the season thus far, closely followed by Quick, Hall and Mulrooney in order named.

Bowlers are exhibiting a keen interest in the league this season, and nightly the sound of crashing maples reverberates around the temple.

The high ten averages for the season thus far follow:

Christmas Music at Presbyterian Church

At the morning service of the Presbyterian church next Sunday, a program of music will be presented. The entire service will center upon the meaning and message of Christmas to every human heart. The church is being beautifully decorated for the service. All members and friends of the church are urged to attend this service. The musical part of the program follows:

Organ-piano duet, O Holy Night—Adolph Adam.
Solo, A Christmas Noel—Mrs. R. H. Wilson.
Anthem, There Were Shepherds—Charles Vincent, the quartet.
Organ Offertory, Holy Night—Dudley Buck.
Solo—Mrs. Lauritz Drevdahl.
Anthem, Glory to God on High—Cedric Lemont, the quartet.
Organ Postlude, Gesu Bambino—Pietro A. Yon.

Sparks from the chimney ignited the roof at the W. S. Crowe residence on Maple avenue at 9:45 a. m. Thursday. Prompt work on the part of the fire department prevented serious damage.

3 APPRAISERS ARE SELECTED

Will Determine Value of Property Used by New Seul Choix Road

Three commissioners were appointed Wednesday morning at a hearing at the county court house before Probate Judge Edmund Ashford to appraise the value of the property through which passes the new eight-mile stretch of state road from Whitedale to Port Inland. W. B. Thomas, of this city, Charles Howard, Hiawatha township, and H. Knaggs, Germfask township were appointed as appraisers.

Condemnation proceedings were instituted by the state late this summer when appraisals made by the state highway department proved to be unsatisfactory to the property owners and it was desired to begin work on the road immediately. Not later than January 31 the three appraisers will file their report. Actual appraisal work will begin on January 20.

Property owners who attended the hearing were John Johnson, Conrad Ragenboggen, Lawrence Mortenson, Robert Gemmill, Pontiac and Mrs. Roy Vertz, Thomas C. Millan, LaGrange, Ill., Judson Going, of Chicago; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank John were represented by local attorneys. The state highway department was represented by Mr. O'Connor of Baraga and Mr. Melroy of Escanaba.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—An mphatic upturn in bonds was ne of the most heartening deelopments in the financial maret today.

Stocks, on the momentum of Wednesday's spectacular climb, allied briskly, only to lose a large part of their gain when purchases made for a trading turn were sold. The next advance for the session averaged about a point, although numerous issues were up much more than that. Sales totaled 3,290,370 shares.

The recovery in bonds signified that the market's recent weakness had been due to temporary conditions which seemed to disappear quickly with the turn in stocks. Relief from nervous tension served to dry up the supply of domestic liens and debentures and the well-advertised bargains finally found buyers.

Wall Street's second thoughts on the rebound in stocks confirmed its first opinion, namely, that it was due to a badly overcrowded short position for which the only solution was just such a turn as appeared. There seemed to be, however, a more confident feeling in commission house circles.

Consistent Progress.

Although few cared to go on record as predicting that actual bottom had been reached pending the market's action under realizing and a secondary reaction such as would normally follow so sharp a rally, it was felt that the two week decline had discounted a large part of any further unfavorable business news, particularly fourth quarter earnings.

The market's progress was fairly consistent through the early hours. At their highest levels of the day prices of some stocks were 10 to 30 points above Wednesday's lows, which represented probably as vigorous a recovery as the market had witnessed this year. The sharpest reaction came in the final hour when prominent industrials lost all but a fraction of their 2 to 3 point advances, yet the market still retained enough vitality to close generally above the day's lowest quotations. An exception was the weakness of the coppers, with Anaconda and American Belting sagging sharply.

While security prices were gaining courage, the leading commonities lost heart. Bar silver again went to a record low. Copper exporters pared a half cent from their quotations, the second cut of that size this week. Cotton weakened under a renewal of liquidation and final quotations were of 10 to 20 points.

The weekly federal reserve bank statement showed some interesting changes, traceable to operations over the Treasury financing interval as well as efforts of New York banks to strengthen their positions following the recent suspension by a reserve member here. There were large gains in discounts and holdings of government securities and an expansion of more than $100,000,000 in currency circulation, part of which was seasonal.

Heavy liquidation in stocks during the past week brought a $91,000,000 drop in brokers' loans, which are down to the nominal amount of $2,008,000,000. Most of the reduction was in loans for New York City Member banks' own account. The latters' loans on securities to non-broker customers rose $23,000,000.

The most spectacular stock today was Auburn. Opening at 101, up 2 points, it soared to 119¾ as shorts took a squeezing and then fell back to 112. Its Wednesday low was 89. J. I. Case was another wide mover, although the 12 rise was halved.

Rails displayed encouraging strength. New York Central retained 3 points of a 6 point advance and Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison, Northern Pacific and Missouri were 1 to 3 net. Union Pacific and Illinois Central, however, were heavy.

Small advances covered the list of foreign exchanges, with both sterling cables and the French franc up slightly. The Spanish peseta was a trifle heavy.

BY DONALD C. BOLLES
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—A robust rally by a wide list of railroad and other corporate domestic bonds today reversed the most stubborn and protracted declines of the year.

Impressive gains of 1 to 3 points were registsered as a broad buying movement was launched which definitely turned the tide after bond prices had ebbed almost steadily for two weeks, making a long string of successive new lows for recent years.

The advance confirmed the feeling in the street that an upturn in the share market would have a favorable psychological effect on investors. The recent liquidation of high grade investment issues along with bonds not so favorably situated had all the earmarks of nervous selling by holders whose confidence had been impaired by the general trend of security prices.

Buyer is King.

Today the buyer dominated the situation. His bidding for investment and second grade issues brought the first advance in the weighted averages in two weeks.

Both the average of 10 rails and the composite was up a full point from the year's low reached yesterday. The volume of business was large although somewhat less than the heaviest turnover on days when selling was most persistent. The broadest demand developed for railroad mortgages and advances of from 1 to 2 points were numerous and in some were larger.

Virtually the entire domestic list of high grade bonds reflected the bolstering effects of the inquiry and tended to revive widely circulated reports in the financial district that organized support for the market had been decided upon.

The market was not without its soft spots. A few low grade rails and speculative industrials dipped to new lows for the year and the movement in the foreign list remained irregular. The principal changes of trend, however, were on the upside. Some Latin Americans, notably Bolivians and Peruvians rallied sharply. German bonds joined the upward movement.

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—The gold statement of the Federal Reserve bank of New York for the week ended December 17 showed imports of $5,000,000 from Canada, $973,000 from Colombia and $95,000 from Latin America. There were no exports and there was no change in gold earmarked for foreign account. In addition $3,000,000 was received from Canada today and stocks of gold earmarked for foreign account increased $2,000,000.

John Bell Huhn, floor members of the firm of C. Clothier Jones and company, recently suspended from the New York stock exchange for insolvency, has transferred his stock exchange membership to George Shaskan of the firm of Luber and Shaskan.

RADIO

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Radio Follies closes its first broadcast season tomorrow evening.

With George Jessel, stage and movie star, as guest artist the finale of this radio act, presented by WABC and stations at 10 p. m. (EST) also will include Arthur Schwartz, composer, a vocal ensemble and the Follies orchestra. Norman Brokenshire will be master of ceremonies.

The 15-minute weekly football summations started Oct. 10 by Parke H. Davis on WJZ and network, will be concluded at 7:15 p. m. In his last talk Davis will review the season and trace the development of the game in the last 40 years.

A half hour program by L'Orpheon, male choir of Montreal will be given over WABC and stations at 10:30 p. m.

The play, by the Radio Guild, WJZ hookup at 4 p. m., is to be "Milestones," starrring Tom Powers.

Two movie stars will be heard during the evening—Helen Kane on WJZ and chain at 8 and Lillian Roth in the Theater of the Air at 10:30 on WEAF and chain.

The story hour with Mary and Bob on WABC and stations will observe its third anniversary of broadcasting at 9 p. m. with a radio dramatization "Divorce Money."

Celebration completiton of its sixth year as a broadcaster KTHS, Hot Springs, Ark., plans a special program at 11:15 p. m. There will be guest announcers from KRLD, Dallas, and KLRA, Little Rock, with features by the local staff.

CORNELL NEWS

Cornell, Mich., Dec. 17. (Special)—Clayton Ford and Morton Schire motored to Gwinn on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. Bigler, their former teacher.

Little Anita Nelson of Escanaba is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. S. N. Harrod for two weeks.

Two of the Hedberg children have been confined to their home with chicken pox but are on the road to recovery.

The Lundgaard's new home is practically finished and they have moved into it.

The school children are busy with their Christmas program at present. The Chandler school has issued their invitations for Saturday night at the school and the Cornell school will entertain on Friday night at the town hall.

Observation of Christmas.

It may not be generally known that Christmas has not always been observed on the 25th of December. There was no celebration of the Nativity until nearly 100 years after the death of Jesus. Since then it has been observed on the 1st and 6th of January, the 29th of March, the 29th of September, the 19th of April and the 20th of May.

Like Christmas Dolls.

In spite of all the advanced ideas of the rising generation, the average small girl still likes a doll as well as she likes any other Christmas present.

CURB TRADING STILL ACTIVE

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—The curb market's rebound from its latest bottom levels was carried further today, but it lost its momentum in the last hour.

Trading remained fairly active, the day's transfers aggregating 763,300 shares. Oils sand several of the industrials and specialties made marked progress, but the list was inclined to yield to profit taking in the last hour, particularly the utilities.

Electric Bond and Share closed a fraction lower, after recording a temporary gain of 1¾. American Gas and Electric sold up 1½, then lost its gain. Niagara Hudson showed little recuperative power, closing a shade lower.

In the oils, Vacuum shot up 4½ points, then slipped back 3 from the top. Gulf and Humble gained about 2 each. Standard of Ohio closed up a point, and Indiana, up ½. Cities Service rallied nearly a point to 16¼, but closed at 15 7-8. Cosden preferred, however, tumbled 19¾ to a new low at 10¼.

Among the industrial specialties, Anglo Chilean Nitrate shot up about 3 points to 11, and retained most of its gain. Deere and Lehigh Coal advanced 2, and Driver Harris 4. Aluminum Co. rallied 10 points.

Bonds Make Peak Advance Of Year

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—Restoration of confidence in the securities markets today was celebrated by tormenting the bears in the stock market.

More cheering to Wall Street, however, was the strong buying movement which developed in the bond market. Bonds made the sharpest advance of the year, terminating a decline which has carried them to the lowest in five years, as measured by the composite price of 30 issues. In the over-the-counter market, bank stocks rallied swiftly.

The advance in stocks lost its vigor late in the day, as traders who bought around yesterday's low levels hurried to take profits, and as the violence of the advance attracted some general selling. In the so-called pivotal shares, there were few net gains of more than $1 or $2.

CHICAGO BUTTER.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Butter prices declined ½ cent on top scores today. The market was unsettled at the decline, especially on lower grades.

Fresh: 93 score 29 to 29¼; 92, 28½; 91, 28; 90, 27½; 89, 27; 88, 26¼; 87, 25¼.

Centralized: 90 score 28; 89, 26; 88, 25½.

COPPER REDUCED.

New York, Dec. 18. (AP)—The price of export copper was reduced one half cent a pound today to 10.30 cents, C. I. F. European base ports.

The cut brought the export price on a level with 10 cents for domestic copper, the figure which custom smelters have been quoting in the domestic market for several days. Leading producers, who have been out of the market for some time, continue to quote 12 cents for the metal.

Today's reduction in the foreign price was the second made this week by Copper Exporters, Inc., a cut of one-half cent a pound having been announced Tuesday.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Corn fell 2 cents a bushel today, influenced by liberal arrivals and by reports that some corn products manufacturies would shut down. Reports said industrial users of corn contended that crop shortage had been over-emphasized, and not enough attention had been given to curtailment of demand owing to use of rye and other substitutes. A further weight on the market was announcement that 442,000 bushels of corn had been delivered today on Chicago December contracts.

Corn closed unsettled at nearly the day's bottom level, 1 3-8 to 1 7-8 cents a bushel lower than yesterday. Wheat closed irregular at 1 cent decline to ¼ cent advance, with oats ¼ to 3-4 cent off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

Much of the general commission selling of corn and wheat futures however, some authorities said, was attributed to the approach of Christmas and to a need in various quarters of holiday funds. Another factor tending to pull wheat down was additional moisture for domestic winter wheat southwest. Moreover, the Australian wheat crop was estimated semi-officially at 5,846,000 metric tons, against 8,442,000 metric tons in 1929. Oats were chiefly dominated by the action of corn.

Provisions averaged higher, influenced by demand for December delivery of lard, especially on the part of traders who have been speculative sellers.

Closing indemnities: Wheat May 81; July 67 to 67 1-8, 69 to 69 1-8. Corn Dec. (bids) 66 3-8; March 69 3-8, 71 7-8; May 71¼ to 3-8, 74 1-8; July 72 7-8, 75½.

Eskymos Defeat Manistique Basket Tossers, 11-9

COLLIER'S ALL AMERICA FOOTBALL TEAM ANNOUNCED

PUCKMEN LOOK 100% IMPROVED

Both Teams Show Tight Defense to Keep Scoring Down

Flashing a display of form which critics believed they were not capable of, the Escanaba high school basketball squad, rejuvenated 100% since their recent defeats, turned over the bucket of dope to down the Manistique high school cagers, 11 to 9, in a game that gave fans a carload of thrills, especially in the final moments. It was the first victory over a high school quintet this season for the Eskymos.

The Puckmen grabbed the lead soon after the initial tip off with Anderson scoring from under the basket. They were never headed thereafter but their lead was slim throughout and the Wassberg crew offered a continual threat. In the final period, the Manistique quintet spurted to cut the Escanaba lead from 11 to 4 to 11 to 9 but the gun ended their rally just when it appeared most potent.

Using a man for man defense, the Escanaba cagers had the high scoring stars of the Schoolcraft seat sewed up most of the game. Until late in the last period they were able to connect only twice from the field. They only found the loop three times during the game. The Eskymos, too, found the Manistique defense hard to break through but they scored four times from the court to give them their edge. Both teams made good three times on free tosses.

The game was delayed by the absence of McClung of Negaunee who was selected to handle the whistle. McClung failed to show up through a misunderstanding of dates and McGinn, Escanaba official, was substituted.

In the preliminary the Nahma high school team downed the Escanaba Reserves, 33 to 20. The Ranguette combination coached by Mrs. Anne Fleming, the only woman boys' team coach in the peninsula, broke through the Reserve defense to score almost at will.

U. S. Hockey Team May Play Abroad

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—An American team probably will be sent abroad to compete in the world's amateur championship hockey matches to be held at Krynica, Poland, January 8 to 11, Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, announced today.

A canvass of clubs in Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia and New York is under way with a view to selecting a representative team of amateur stars.

ROAD LIES OPEN BEFORE HIM

On the Pacific coast they're calling Max Baer, above, a second Jack Dempsey; in New York they're calling him another Jack Sharkey. And maybe he does combine the fighting tactics of the old Man Mauler with the boastful prophecies of the Boston ex-sailor. Anyhow, we'll know more about him following his New York debut against Ernie Schaaf of Boston, scheduled for December 19.

Max Baer Will Meet Ernie Schaaf Tonight

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A couple of heavyweights from the sophomer class, Max Baer of San Francisco and Ernie Schaaf, of Boston, will grab the spotlight in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night to display what brand of power and ability, if any, lurks in the youngsters of the division.

Baer, a 200-pound puncher with a record of 24 knockouts in 27 matches, is new to eastern rings, and Schaaf, a former sailor with more experience, has never appeared before the Garden. Schaaf is a protege of Jack Sharkey, however, and holds two decisions over Tommy Loughran. Sharkey is scheduled to second him tomorrow night.

May Steal Thunder

With the lineup forming for the next heavyweight title go June, and all the old familiar faces—Sharkey, Young Stribling, Victorio Campolo, and Max Schmelling—failing to excite the faithful, the youngsters have an exceptional opportunity to steal the thunder of the veterans. A decisive victory for either will provide the element of youthful punch and ability the heavyweight picture now lacks. Baer particularly, because of his punch, size, and general color, can win himself a shot at one of the leading contenders by scoring a knockout.

The Californian has impressed the critics during his training workouts at Gus Wilson's camp at Orangeburg. Baer has a splendid physique, a wallop in either mit, and just enough youthful braggadocio and enthusiasm to catch the eyes of fandom. He has been swaggering about town in high-powered raiment with a liveried chauffeur and a private car the size of a small locomotive. He believes he will knock Schaaf over in four or five rounds. The bout is scheduled for ten.

Schaaf, who followed Jack Sharkey's trail from the navy to Boston rings, is a smart boxer and a sharp hitter. For some time he was regarded as the likeliest of all the younger heavyweights, but a reaction set in and only recently has he climbed back to favor with victories over Loughran and Johnny Risko. He has been working hard with Sharkey in Boston.

ALGERS TO PLAY BARAGA TONIGHT

Parochial Quintet Invades Munising For Season Opener

Munising, Dec. 18 (Special)—The curtain rises on basketball at Mather gym Friday night when Munising high school's court five faces the five from Baraga high school of Marquette. As the two teams are ancient foes, it is expected that the opening night crowd will be larger than usual this year. It will be the first chance for local fans to see the 1930 champs of the Upper Peninsula since they hung up their suits last March after a season that started rather inauspiciously but which ended in a highly satisfactory manner with the Class C championship of the peninsula as the ultimate award.

The scoring combinaton that brought victory last year is broken. Aho, Bob Runsat, Depew and Powell have been lost by graduation, but Vertinen, Carmody and Blizel have been left of last year's squad around which to build another winning team.

The Orange and Black went down to defeat in a hard fought and close battle at Newberry last Friday night after leading most of the way. The veterans, Blizel, Vertinen and Carmody, worked hard to win and were aided and abetted by Larson, Esterholm and Aanderud who are regulars this year. They expect it to be a different story when Newberry appears here later in the season. They also expect a different story when they face Baraga's fighting five Friday night.

The regular game will start at 8:15, following a good preliminary which is now being arranged for. Fans are advised to come early to get a good seat and to hear the Mather high school band play.

Boston Bruins Beat New York Rangers

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Boston Bruins again asserted their supremacy over their favorite National hockey league rivals, the New York Rangers, tonight, contininuing their two year old string of triumphs with a 4 to 2 victory.

The victory put the Bruins in First place in the league's American division as the Chicago Black Hawks, with whom they had been tied, played a draw with the Montreal Canadiens. The defeat, coupled with a victory for Detroit, dropped the Rangers to fourth.

A dazzling burst of scoring in the last half of the second period put the Bruins out ahead. They scored three goals in a little over six minutes of this period and added another in the final frame before the Rangers could tally.

George Owen, an outstanding star of the game, made the first Boston tally and assisted Harry Oliver on the final counter. Eddie Shore and Red Beattie made the other Boston scores. Bill Cook and Butch Keeling made the Ranger goals in the final period.

MINERS DEFEAT NEWBERRY FIVE

Ability to Make Good on Free Throws Wins For Negaunee

Newberry, Dec. 18. (Special)—An uncanny ability to connect from the free throw line gave the Negaunee high school basketeers a 30 to 23 victory over the Newberry cagers in spite of the fact that they were outscored from the field. Negaunee made good on 12 out of 15 charity attempts.

Johnson, Newberry guard, was the big noise of the evening, scoring six field goals and two free throws for a total of 14 points. Rudness, Negaunee great versatile athlete, however was close behind with four field goals and four free throws for a total of 12 points.

Erickson, Newberry center, was ejected from the fray in the third perio dand his loss proved a big handicap to the Celery City crew.

Montreal Maroons Beat Maple Leafs

Toronto, Ont, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Montreal Maroons outpointed the Toronto Maple Leafs, two goals to one, in a National hockey league game tonight and assumed undisputed possession of second place in the Canadian division.

Nelson Stewart notched the winning goal in the third period after he and Hooley Smith had combined to work right in on Benny Grant, youthful Toronto net-minder. Grant never had a chance to stop Stewart's game-winning poke.

Hal Cotton scored for Toronto in the first period and in the same session, Johnny Gallagher, recruit defense man, tallied for the Maroons.

The London county council street car lines made a profit of $640,000 last year.

TWO UTILITY MEN SELECTED

Fesler and Ticknor Are Tied With Highest Percentages

(Copyright by Collier's Weekly)

New York, Dec 18—Selections for Collier's All-America football team, which is a perpetuation of the original All-America founded by Walter Camp, were announced today. The players chosen are:

BACKS

Carideo, Notre Dame, quarterback.

Pinckert, Southern California, halfback.

Dodd, Tennessee, halfback.

Macaluso, Colgate, fullback.

ENDS

Dalrymple, Tulane.

Fesler, Ohio State.

LINE

Sington, Alabama, tackle.

Rhea, Nebraska, tackle.

Koch, Baylor, guard.

Beckett, California, guard.

Ticknor, Harvard, center.

Two additional players are named as "utility men"—Hein of Washington State as utility lineman, and Mohler of Southern California as utility back.

"There have been stronger All-America teams than this one," comments the selection committee, "but few that had so many who were all-round stars. Tickner and Dodd have been among the best for three years—team inspirations as well as great football players. The same is true of Hein. Certainly no one team ever had two smarter men in the backfield than Carideo and Dodd, who can be listed among the smartest backs football has yet known."

Ticknor and Carideo are the only names on this year's list who also appeared on the All-America last year. Ticknor last year had the highest percentage rating of any man on the team, and this year he is tied with Fesler for the same honor, receiving a percentage of 92.5. The other players were rated as follows: Hein, 91.7; Carideo, 91.4; Sington and Dodd, 90.8; all others, 90.

Some of the most promising candidates for All-America honors were cut down in their percentage ratings by weak schedules, by lack of complete all-round talent, by injury or by accident or else by some lapse in an important game.

One of the hardest selections, it is stated, was the end assignment, with Fesler, Dalrymple and Baker leading the field. "Fesler," the judges state, "was probably the best football player of the year but the race between Ralrymple and Baker was nip and tuck, and the decision was finally given to the one who finished a trifle stronger. Baker was a star end, one of the best.

"One of the most important requirements demanded from this team was hard, accurate and skillful blocking. Notre Dame proved the value of this important fundamental in most of its games through the year. A great blocker is nearly always a great football player. There is almost no exception. Great ball carriers are easier to find and develop, but they must have the necessary blocking or they would never be great ball carriers.

Blocking a Necessity

"The finest proof of this was shown in the Army-Notre Dame game, where Schwartz on a heavy track was frequently stopped at the line of scrimmage. Suddenly five of his mates gave him perfect blocking and he ran 54 yards for a touchdown. Without this blocking he could not have run 54 inches with the field as it was.

"This element of blocking is often overlooked by those who watch only the progress of the ball. But it is a big part of football and the most important fundamental on any team. This fact was given large consideration in naming the team. Those selected were among the best blocking backs of the year.

"It must be remembered also that an All-America back must be able to do many things well, not merely star in one or two lines. No one team ever had two such deadly kickers as Carideo and Dodd, who have made a habit of kicking out of bounds from the five to the two-yard line. They were both snipers at this work, close to Kipke of Michigan renown. This is one of the most important features of any good kicking game.

"Dodd was the best passer of the year, a great passer in every contest. More than once he beat stronger opponents with his right arm and his head

The complete list of all the year's players who were of All-America calibre, and whose names were considered in making the final choice, is as follows:

CENTERS — Ticknor, Harvard; Hein, Washington State; Siano, Fordham; Roberts, Tulane; Morrison, Michigan; Loeser, Yale; Jonas, Utah; Atkins, Texas Christian.

GUARDS — Koch, Baylor; Beckett, California; Woodworth, Northwestern; Munn; Minnesota; Baker, California; Metzger, Notre Dame; Linehan, Yale; Wisniewski, Fordham; Hunt, Cornell; Bromberg, Dartmouth; Steele, Florida; Greenburg, Nebraska; McGirl, Missouri; Kobat, Wisconsin.

TACKLES — Sington and Clements, Alabama; Prince, Army; Lubratovich, Wisconsin; Van Bibber, Purdue; Crehan, Dartmouth; Ahlskog and Edwards, Washington State; Rhea, Nebraska; Maree, Georgia Tech; Christensen, Oregon; Foley, Fordham; Edwards, Villanova.

ENDS—Fesler, Ohio State; Dalrymple, Tulane; Baker, Northwestern; Arbelbide, Southern California; Ebding, St. Mary's; Maffett and Smith, Georgia; Riblett, Pennsylvania; Schwartz, Vanderbilt; Conley, Notre Dame; Long, Southern Methodist.

QUARTERBACKS—Carideo, Notre Dame; Dodd, Tennessee; Mohler and Duffield, Southern California; O'Connell, Holy Cross; Branch, North Carolina; Bennett, Princeton; Baker, Pittsburgh; Bowman, Army.

OTHER BACKS—Pinckert, Southern California; Brill and Schwartz, Notre Dame; Macaluso and Hart, Colgate; Schwartz, Washington State; Weller, Haskell Institute; Bausch, Kansas; Kirn, Navy; Roberts, Georgia; Murphy, Fordham; Eyth, Carnegie Tech; Karcis, Carnegie Tech; Viviano, Cornell, Hewitt, Columbia; Russell, Northwestern; Stennett, St. Mary's; Hufford, Washington; Kitzmiller, Oregon; Magner, North Carolina; Zimmerman, Tulane; Hanson, Temple; Hackman, Tennessee; Bethea, Florida; Hinkle, Bucknell; Wheeler, Michigan; Christensen, Utah; Shelley, Texas; Wilson, Baylor.

Fred Sington Rewards His Mother's Faith

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

A little mare than seven years ago a pudgy boy of 13 with a black eye limped into the kitchen of his home in Birmingham, Ala.

His mother consoled him in his affliction—with kind words and delicious pie.

That was just after Freddie Sington's first football scrimmage. The young man who was chosen almost unanimously as All-America tackle this year had to play with boys older and tougher than himself when he first took up the game, at Phillips High, in Birmingham.

His mother, Mrs. Hallye Sington, gave him pie to eat and kind words of encouragement to hear.

So Freddie, though sadly bruised and generally pushed around during the first football scrimmage, went right back after more the next day.

When the mighty football teams of Washington State and Alabama clash in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena New Year's day, there will be no player to whom has come greater fame than the pudgy boy whose first game of football sent him home with tears in his eyes.

Up in the stands, among the thousands whose cheers will pay tribute to Sington's football prowess, will be his mother, her eyes showing her pride in the boy's success.

Rivals for the position Sington played in his high school days used to give the pudgy Jewish boy some rough afternoons. But Freddie fought, learned the game, became proficient, and began giving a few others some rough afternoons. He may give some Washington State players a disappointing New Year's Day. For Freddie, today, with his six feet three and 217 pounds, isn't a pudgy boy any longer. He represents 217 pounds of animated buzz-saw.

About the time Freddie entered Alabama Mrs. Sington was left a widow. Her son wanted to abandon his scholastic career, take a job in the workaday world and help along financially.

Mrs. Sington, however, had other ambitions. Just as sure as she was that he would become a great football player, she believed that some day he would be a great lawyer. It was a fight for her to keep the boy in college, but she did not shrink from the struggle.

Thus far Freddie has rewarded her faith, not only by earning a high place among the country's gridiron great, but by excellence in his academic work. Every year his name has appeared on the Alabama honor roll. His schoolwork recently was recognized by election to Phi Beta Kappa, a scholary honor few football men attain.

Into his 20 years of life young Sington has crowded victory and honor. But in his fight he has been given valuable help by his mother.

When they cheer him in the Rose Bowl, they'll be cheering her, too, for she is hero Freddie's heroine.

FALCONS BEAT SENATORS, 3-0

Detroit Hockey Team Is Back in Form on Home Ice Rink

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Detroit Falcons, home from a disastrous road trip, resumed their winning form tonight and blanked the Ottawa Senators, 3 to 0, in a National league hockey game that saw the Detroit team out ahead all the way.

Ebbie Goodfellow, one time Ottawa amateur led the play that spelled defeat to the Senators. Although he didn't score a goal, the big Falcon center gave Carson Cooper, Falcon wingman, passes that resulted in two goals, and made trouble for Alex Connell, Ottawa goalie, all evening. Frank Frederickson, former Pittsburg Pirate manager, got the other goal, aided by McInenly.

The Falcon wingman had little trouble breaking through a weak Ottawa defense line, and Dolly Dolson, Detroit goalie, stopped everything the Ottawa wingmen could offer. Harvey Rockburn, Detroit defense man, held a one man parade to the penalty box during play, making five trips during the game. Thirteen penalties were called.

Lineup and summary:

DETROIT (3)		(0) OTTAWA
Dolson	Goal	Connell
Rockburn	L. D.	Starr
Noble	R. D.	Alex Smith
Goodfellow	C	Lamb
Cooper	L. W.	Finnigan

Alabama Gridders Quit Drill Until Arrival In West

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Dec. 18 (AP)—With a final drill beneath drab skies, Alabama's Crimson Tide today put aside cleats and moleskins until December 23, when work will be resumed at Pasadena, Calif.

There will be a rousing send-off tomorrow as the Tide rolls westward to engage Washington State at Pasadena in Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. It is Alabama's third trip to the west coast in six years.

Echoes of Wednesday night's pep meeting were still being heard tonight as final preparations to board the Crimson Tide special were made.

Wallace Wade said at the pep meeting, his last pre-game speech in Tuscaloose, he hoped the Tide would "give you a happy New Year with a victory."

The Tide was in fine fettle except for John "Monk" Campbell, spinning ace, who twisted a knee a few days ago in practice.

What method of attack the Tide will use against the Cougars remained a question. Although it was certain a new combination would be tried and many new plays would be turned.

In addition to the official party of 82, including 35 players, coaches, President Denny and university officials and sports writers, railway officials have announced a number of other passengers will be aboard.

Primo Carnera Wins From English Pug

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Primo Carnera, Italian man-mountain, brushed aside the puny efforts of Reggie Meen, English heavyweight, in less than two rounds at Albert Hall tonight. She referee stopped the unequal struggle after Meen had been floored twice in the second round.

ROCKNE BACK AT HOSPITAL

Notre Dame Coach Will Undergo Examination at Rochester

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 18 (AP)—Worn by the strenuous football season just ended, Knute Rockne, famous coach at Notre Dame, was registered at the Mayo clinic here again tonight for a physical inventory.

Although Rockne said he feared a recurrence of an old leg ailment which laid him low last spring, his physician, Dr. C. J. Barborka, said a preliminary examination revealed the coach may be suffering from a fatigued physical condition. Further examinations will be made later, but Dr. Barborka said he expected to find nothing organically wrong.

Rockne said he would remain here about two weeks for a thorough examination and rest and "to make sure" that the recent slight switching in a leg is not a return of phlebitis which brought him here on a stretcher six months ago.

Dr. Barborka who has taken care of Rockne for the past two years, said his preliminary examination revealed no definite symptoms and he believes his patient is suffering from fatigue "induced by strain of emotions" to which he was subjected during the football season.

"Mr. Rockne looks fine," the physician said, "except that he is tired from strain and from making three or four speeches every day. His condition is just what is expected of anyone who has gone through such a strenuous season. I don't see any reason for confining him to his bed. On the contrary, he should be perfectly ambulatory at present."

Dr. Barborka said it would be at least three days before he could announce anything definite on the coach's condition. Meanwhile Rockne will rest, except for attendance at a high school football banquet here tomorrow night.

Frank Leahy, first string tackle of the Notre Dame Ramblers, accompanied his coach to the clinic. Leahy injured his knee early in the season and has been out of the game since. He will undergo an examination to determine whether surgical attention is needed.

Several Witnesses Heard In Case of Joel Druckenmiller

Ten witnesses were heard before Justice Phil Hupy at Gladstone Thursday, as hearing was continued in the case of Joel Druckenmiller, 19, charged with the murder of A. E. Mertens, 60, near Osier last October. Further testimony will be taken December 24, beginning 9 a. m.

Sheriff Elmer Swanson, who was called to the Mertens farm home, arriving just before the aged farmer died, completed his testimony yesterday. Among the other witnesses was George Williamson, employed for a time by Mertens, who was the first to find the injured man after the alleged assault.

Material evidence which has been introduced included a club made of stove wood, claimed to have been used in striking Mertens over the head, photographs, diagrams and articles of clothing picked up around the scene of the killing.

It is expected that finger prints will be offered by the prosecution as additional exhibits in the case when the hearing is resumed next week.

Blessing River Danube.

It has been the custom in Rumania from time immemorial to bless the Danube on Christmas day. A procession of priests and people dressed to represent Biblical characters moves through the streets singing chants and so to the bank of the river. The ice is broken, and a small wooden cross is thrown into the water. Any one who can recover this cross is regarded as extremely fortunate and sure of good luck for the year to come.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Gas Demonstrated—The working of the automatic tear gas installation at the First National Bank was demonstrated last night for a group of bankers, bank employes and local business men. The invisible gas, released from two of the dozen "guns" stationed at various points in the bank, caused the spectators to make hurried exits, with their eyes streaming with tears. The device is designed as a protection against bandits.

Escanaba Warden Attends Annual State Conference

H. A. McMillan, district state fire warden stationed at Escanaba, attended a conference of Michigan wardens held in Marquette Thursday. Sessions were at the state conservation department headquarters. The meeting was called by R. H. Sayre, chief fire warden of Michigan, and about 20 district wardens were present.

Forest fire prevention programs for 1931 were outlined as one of the important items at the conference. Round-table discussions were participated in by representatives of the various fire districts.

The past year has been almost a record-breaker in Michigan so far as the number of forest and brush fires is concerned, and it afforded plenty of opportunity for testing the efficiency of the state's methods of fire control and the efficiency of its field force.
